NOW KU KLUX KLAN IN FIVE YEARS GREW TO 500,000

Newly Revived Organization, Whose Former Slogan in the South Was "White Supremacy," Has Taken On New Motives and Spread Over the United States.

Invitations for Membership Are to "Native Born Americans, of Christian Religion, Without Foreign Allegiance of Any Kind."

Each New Member Makes Contribution of $10, of Which Organizer, Known as a "Kleagle," Gets $4, and "King Kleagle" $1.

(Copyright, 1921.)

What is the Ku Klux Klan?

How has it grown from a nucleus of 24 charter members to a membership of more than 500,000 within five years?

How have its "domains" and "realms" and "Klans" been extended until they embrace every State in the Union but Montana, Utah and New Hampshire?

What are the possibilities of a secret organization in the present era of the United States? The Post-Dispatch and the New York World today begin the publication of a series of articles in which answers to these questions will be offered, set out against the background of its extraordinary movement as it is found in recent history.

The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., was organized in 1915, at Atlanta, Ga., by William Joseph Simmons, who at one period of his life had been an itinerant Methodist minister; at another, professor of Southern history at Lander University, a small, newly organized institution in Atlanta, and at still another, a solicitor of members for the Woodmen of the World. On that date Simmons and 22 of his friends signed a petition for a charter as a standard fraternal secret order, which charter was issued by the Superior Court of Fulton County, Ga., on July 1, 1915.

Now the organization is active in every State of the Union but three. It has a membership of more than 500,000, according to the boasts of its leaders.

When it was organized, its founders claimed it was a revival or legitimate rebirth of the old Ku Klux Klan of the reconstruction period in the South, like the original Klan, its slogan was "White Supremacy." It was directed against the negro.

Now the negro has become a side issue with it, and it is spreading more than twice as fast through the North and West as it is growing in the South.

As the cards of invitation to membership state:

"Only native-born American citizens who believe in the tenets of the Christian religion and who are of the blood of the white race are eligible to any foreign Government, nation, political institution, sect, people or person are eligible."

How has it managed to spread so widely and rapidly? For one thing, it owes its growth to the employment of a large number of professional salesmen, who net the country in an up-to-date sales or promotion and peddle memberships on a basis of $4 for every member taken into the Klan. These paid orators, or Kleagles, are at work in every State, and are the chief factor in the rapid growth of the Klan.

This drive is being actively pushed in some of the communities throughout the United States. The Kleagles collect no initiation fees, but each new member makes a "donation" of $10, of which the Kleagle keeps $4 and sends the rest to the Klan. The Kleagle, who keeps a list of the "donations," sends the $6 to the "imperial" treasury of the order.

Furthermore, the Klan itself owns the company manufacturing the regalia of cotton robe and hooded cap, which is sold to members for $5.50 and costs $1.25 to make. The whole "promotion" department is in the hands of professional leaders.

In the last five years membership "donations" and sales of regalia have yielded at least $5,000,000.

Activities of the Ku Klux Klan in Recent Months

SINCE the Ku Klux Klan recently began its membership campaign and the teaching of its doctrines, there have been 64 violations of the rights of individuals by masked regalia wearing the order's regalia. There have been 21 "tar and feather" parties, 25 individuals have been "seized and beaten," two women have been stripped and whipped, 12 general warnings to enforce moral regulations in the name of the K. K. have been posted. One man has been killed by Ku Klux regulators and two of the regulators have been killed.

As a result, "Imperial Wizard" Simmons has revoked the charters of two Klans, and suspended another.

Governors of three states have announced opposition to the order. Mayors of five cities have taken restrictive action, including bills have been introduced in two legislatures, and the Daughters of the Confederacy in Virginia have denounced the organization.

SAYS IT IS WISE FOR U. S. AND BRITAIN TO STAND TOGETHER

Alton B. Parker Urges Canadian Lawyers to Take Up Question of Closer Relations With American Bar.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 6.—Former Judge Alton B. Parker, once Democratic candidate for the presidency, urged the Canadian Bar Association today to again take up with members of the American Bar the effort toward closer relations between Great Britain and the United States.

He recalled that just before the beginning of the world war Canadian and Americans held a meeting on Mackinac Island to plan for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the treaty of Ghent and the century of peace between Great Britain and America which followed. This plan was abandoned because of the war; but circumstances which had happened since, he said, had demonstrated to men not blinded by prejudice that it was then, as now and ever, wise for Great Britain and the United States to stand together for the peace of the whole world.

CIRCUIT CLERK LOSES TWO RACES AND FAITH IN MULES

Calamity Jane Bolts When He Is in Lead and Lady Dynamite Falls to Fifth.

When Circuit Clerk Wilkeken of St. Louis County lost the mule race at the county fair yesterday he also lost his faith in mules. The fair management had a stake in the race which could be entered for the daily races by anyone who cared to pay $2.50 for the privilege. The stake for the winner was $50.

Yesterday Wilkeken rode Calamity Jane. Three-quarters around, leading the field, she bolted from the track and Deputy Sheriff Mayes finished first on Lady Dynamite. Yesterday Wilkeken went out early and entered Lady Dynamite. Frank Mosely entered Calamity Jane. When Mayes came along the only animal left was Calamity Jane, so named because when she is not racing she pulls a garbage wagon. She is conservatively estimated to be 28 years old.

For once Calamity Jane was not calamitous. Wilkeken, strong and sure, took the money. Lady Dynamite never had a chance. But Wilkeken has one consolation. He beat Mayes, on Calamity, who finished fifth in a field of five.

ADVANCE IN COTTON PRICE

Expected to Have Beneficial Effect on Business.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 6.—Recent advance in the prices of cotton will have a beneficial effect on business conditions throughout the United States, Joseph A. McCord, chairman of the board of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank, said in a statement issued today. McCord added that some improvement in business already had become noticeable.

"The increased price of cotton will benefit the farmers, the merchants and the interior banker," said the chairman's statement. "I have no doubt that it will stimulate trade."

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 6.—Harry H. Billany, Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General, who came from Washington to address the annual convention of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks, today told his hearers that his last official act before leaving Washington was to sign an order granting postoffice employees a full day off on holidays.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Recruiting for the army, which was ordered discontinued last month, was resumed today under new regulations issued by the War Department designed to keep the enlisted strength at 150,000 men, the number authorized by Congress. The enlisted strength is now 140,000.

NOTE TO ALLIES GIVES U. S. VIEWS ON MANDATES

Communication Is Described as Referring Specifically to Mandates Administered Under the League.

PART OF SERIES ON THE SUBJECT

Statement of Position of the U. S. Was Begun by Colby, in Which He Insisted Upon Full Rights.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The United States Government has addressed a new note to all allied Powers on the subject of mandated territories.

Official announcement that the note had been dispatched last week was made today at the State Department.

The note was described as covering in full the question of mandates, although department officials declined to discuss its contents until they had received assurances it had reached the various governments to which it had been sent. Replies were expected within 24 hours. Officials said, and arrangements were being made for the publication of the document within that time.

The communication was understood to refer specifically to class A and B mandates as administered under the League of Nations and to reiterate the position of the United States Government in respect to rights in mandated territories.

The class A mandates are those for Mesopotamia and Palestine and the class B mandates are those for the former Pacific possessions of Germany, including Yap.

Copies of the new note are said to have been delivered to each of the allied Powers—Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan—and through them it was presumed that the United States had been heard.

At the meeting of the League of Nations as stated in navy dispatches of Sept. 3, an Associated Press dispatch of that date from Geneva said that an American note on the subject of mandates was up before the council for consideration.

The note made numerous suggestions for changes in terms and withheld permission for settlement of the mandate question at the present meeting of the league assembly, and that the council regarded the note as furnishing a satisfactory basis for continuation of negotiations.

The new note is considered as forming a part of the series of the League of Nations on the subject of mandates, begun by the State Department under Secretary Colby, in which the United States has insisted on its full rights as one of the victors in the world war, and also the right to pass finally on all mandates before their adoption.

Last of the Series.

The last American note in the series, previous to the one dispatched last week, was forwarded in April by Secretary Hughes. The American Government in that communication took the position that, although the United States was not a party to the treaty of Versailles, it had surrendered none of its rights in the overseas possessions of Germany secured to the principal allied and associated Powers by that treaty.

Italy, in replying to the note, proposed entire accord with the position of the United States, and France forwarded a reply which was interpreted in official circles here as tantamount to acceptance of the American position.

Japan did not send a formal response but inaugurated informal negotiations with respect to the mandated islands of Yap through Baron Shidehara, her Ambassador here, which it has been officially stated, have been progressing satisfactorily. The British Government acknowledged receipt of the American note, but reply has not been made public.

GOLD AND SILVER RECEIVED

Shipments Totalling About $8,000,000 Reached New York From Abroad.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Gold coin and bullion and silver bars having an estimated value of $8,000,000 were received at this port today from Germany, France, Turkey, Egypt and Latin-American countries.

The German Reichsbank forwarded $3,000,000 to the Federal Reserve Bank, presumably in connection with further German reparations obligations.

It was stated that Germany probably would continue to make further remittances of gold to the United States during the remainder of the year in accordance with the terms imposed by the allies.

OFFERS TO OPERATE TRACKLESS TROLLEY OVER FREE BRIDGE

George H. Tontrup Applies for Permission to Also Establish a Downtown Loop.

George H. Tontrup, president of the National Safety Car and Equipment Co., Theresa and Clark avenues, today made application to the city for permission to operate trackless trolley cars on the Free Bridge and over a loop in the downtown district.

Tontrup told Director of Public Utilities Hooks that full details of the project had not been worked out, but it was planned to run cars seating 25 passengers and weighing 10,000 pounds each. They would resemble buses and would run on a patent trolley which would enable them to keep in touch with the trolley wire and still make their way through traffic without following a prescribed course, as do street cars operating on rails.

The loop route asked for would be north on Seventh street from Chouteau avenue to Olive street, east to Sixth street, south to Market street, west on Seventh street and south to Chouteau avenue.

Tontrup said his company would not be in a position to pay anything for the privilege of using the loop and bridge. Such use, he said, would be a public convenience and the company could not hope to do more than pay expenses in the way of fuel and maintenance, and that not more than five cents fare can be charged on the Free Bridge.

Director Hooks will refer the application to the Board of Public Service.

NEGRO SHOTS AND SERIOUSLY WOUNDS MAN AT UNION MARKET

Assault on Talks Involvement and Police Believe He Is Demented.

Gus Salame, 25 years old, a driver for Rizzo Brothers, 1019 North Third street, was shot in the forehead and critically wounded today at 12:30 p. m. at a stand in Union Market near Sixth street and Lucas avenue, by a negro who was apparently demented and gave his name as Fred Young, 29, of 3363 Lawton avenue.

So far as police could learn, the shooting resulted over the sale of some grapes by Salame to the negro, who complained of their quality, an argument ensuing which was culminated by the negro drawing a revolver and firing.

At police headquarters Young talked incoherently about being sent by God to destroy germs and said that he (referring to Salame) was a germ and I shot him in the eye.

A crowd quickly gathered following the shooting, and there was talk of violence. Fred C. Gastorf, market master, took the negro's revolver from him and ordered the crowd to disperse. The police arrived.

In Each Instance Lads Did Not Want to Go Back to Classes.

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—Alonzo Gray, 14 years old, a new boy, son of Mrs. Pauline Gray Ole, yesterday shot himself through the head with a revolver while on a fishing trip with several other newboys.

He had told his companions proudly that he did not want to go back to school.

ROY GARDNER, TRAIN ROBBER, ESCAPES AGAIN

Fourth Successful Dash for Liberty Made During Ball Game at McNeil Island Federal Prison.

USED HERD OF COWS TO THWART PURSUERS

One Convict Killed, Another Wounded—Boasted He Would Get Away at Time of 25-Year Sentence.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 6.—Roy Gardner, train robber, made his fourth escape from the law when he dashed from the baseball diamond of the McNeil Island Federal Prison, near here, yesterday afternoon, in the course of a Labor day game in which he was playing.

The escape and pursuit of Gardner, resulting in the killing of one prisoner and the serious wounding of another, were seen by Heber H. Votaw, Superintendent of Federal Prisons, and brother-in-law of President Harding, who was at the prison on an inspection tour.

During a tense moment in the baseball game, Gardner broke and ran toward the wire enclosure of the prison. Two others, Everett Lupny and Lawardus Bogart, ran with him. Lupny was shot and killed by a guard, and Bogart was wounded and captured.

Cuts Wire Fence Inclosure.

Gardner severed the wire with a pair of cutters, and passed through. Outside the inclosure, he stamped a herd of cattle, and made the animals, and the dust which they raised, his shelter from the pursuing guards.

The guards searched the woods for him, and so fired the woods in an attempt to drive him into the open. He was not found in an all-night search, and the prison officials believe today that he escaped to the States.

Gardner, who is 34 years old, robbed a mail truck in San Diego, Cal., in 1920, and took $30,000 of Liberty bonds. He was caught and confessed the robbery. He escaped from jail, and was recaptured. While being taken to the Federal penitentiary, with two other prisoners, Gardner managed to jerk the revolver away from their guard, and thrust the guard out of the train compartment and into a passageway.

He locked the door and jumped from the train window. The other prisoners remained in their seats.

May 19 last Gardner held up a Southern Pacific mail train at New Castle, Cal., having hidden himself in the mail car, and obtained $175,000 worth of securities. He was caught a few days later while playing in a poker game in Roseville, Cal., and confessed to the train robbery, at the urging of his wife, who lives at Napa, Cal., with their child.

Boasted He Would Escape.

When he was sentenced by United States Judge Van Fleet to 25 years' imprisonment, Gardner boasted that he would escape. Two Federal guards were detailed to the task of taking Gardner and another prisoner, Norris Pryon, to the McNeil Island penitentiary June 10 last. The guards were shackled. While one of the guards was in another part of the car with Pryon, Gardner attacked the other guard and stunned him with a blow of his unchained hands. He took the guard's revolver and ordered the guard to remove his handcuffs and the Oregon boot on his leg. He handcuffed the guard to the steam pipes and then held up the other guard, who had returned with his prisoner. He made the guard release Pryon, fastened the guard to the other one, and he and Pryon then leaped from the train at a water tank.

A week later Gardner was caught in Centralia, Wash., where he had been staying quietly, living at a hotel and going to public gatherings. Pryon, who escaped with him, was caught previously.

Gardner boasted that, in his robberies and previous escapes, he has not seriously injured anyone.

LIQUOR PERMIT INVESTIGATION

Dry Agents Intend to Comb Out All But Bona Fide Users.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Investigation of all outstanding liquor permits is to be begun shortly, and many cancellations may follow, prohibition enforcement officials say. Some time will be required, officials declared, to close the thousands of permits authorizing the withdrawal and sale of intoxicating beverages, but it is the intention of dry authorities to comb out all but bona fide users of the certificates.

PLANS TO MAKE SNAPSHOTS OF THE PLANET MARS

Scientist Tells of Device He Expects to Have Completed by 1924.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Snapshots of Mars, as if the planet were little more than a mile and a half away, are promised by B. Meade, American scientist and collaborator, with David Todd, the well-known American astronomer, in an article in the continental edition of the London Daily Mail, describing plans for the largest telescope ever conceived, which he says will solve the question as to whether life exists on Mars.

The instrument should be ready in 1924, when Mars will be nearer the earth than for a century, according to Mr. Meade, who is planning the telescope on his estate near Deauville, Prof. Meade says:

"Prof. Todd found a mine shaft at Chanaral, Chile, over which Mars will be at its zenith several times in 1924. We intend to use the shaft as the barrel of the telescope. It will be sheathed and will be 50 feet in diameter. The difficulty of a glass mirror will be obviated by the use of an invention of mine, a flat sheet of metal, which will be polished to form a splendid mirror. Owing to the great luminosity the telescope will give, we will be able to make a snapshot, instead of a time exposure. A magnification of 25,000,000 will be possible, bringing Mars within a mile and a half. I am convinced that life exists on Mars, and expect to prove it."

Meade will leave for Chile on the yacht Zorfen next spring for preliminary work. Prof. Todd and he will remain in Chanaral throughout 1924.

NEW $50 COUNTERFEIT BILL

Spurious Kansas City Federal Reserve Bank Note Found.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Detection of a new $50 counterfeit Federal Reserve note on the bank at Kansas City was announced by the Treasury Department today. The note was said to be identical with one recently detected except that it was on the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

A second counterfeit discovered was a $20 note of the Richmond (Va.) Federal Reserve Bank, and was said to be plainly the work of an amateur. A third was a $10 note on the Federal Bank of Boston and was said to be so poor it could easily be detected by the ordinarily careful handler of money.

INHERITANCE TAX 'DELINQUENTS'

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 6.—Inquiry by Stratton Shartels, Assistant Attorney-General, into the manner in which the inheritance tax law is being enforced in the State, disclosed, he says, that in Dunklin County the tax has been paid on only five estates since the State has had an inheritance tax law. He also discovered, he reports, that in 1920 no taxes were paid on four estates which should have paid such taxes, amounting to nearly $4000. Shartels' inquiry being conducted in the field by Lawrence Tedrick, ex-Poplar Bluff, Mo., attorney, already has reached into Washington, Ripley, Pemisac, Mississippi, Iron, Madison, St. Francois, Butler, Lincoln and St. Charles counties. Delinquents were found in four counties besides Dunklin.

MOTHER FINDS BODY OF JACOB SILVERMAN AFTER 7-YEAR SEARCH

BOY MISSING SEVEN YEARS WHOSE BODY IS FOUND BY MOTHER

JACOB SILVERMAN.

Becomes Convinced Body Taken From Lake Near East St. Louis Is That of Son, Missing Since Sept. 5, 1914, and Has It Exhumed.

FAMILY BELIEVES HE WAS MURDERED

Hands Were Strapped Behind Back—Heel Plates on Shoe and Dental Work Result in Identification—Funeral Held Today.

The funeral of Jacob Silverman, who was 14 years old at the time he disappeared from the home of his mother, Mrs. Minnie Silverman, 2103 Market street, seven years ago yesterday, was held this afternoon from an undertaking chapel at 4715 McPherson avenue. A death notice, published today at the instance of Mrs. Silverman, gives the date of the boy's death as the day of his disappearance, Sept. 5, 1914.

During the seven-year period, Mrs. Silverman has kept up an active search for information about her boy. She has spent hundreds of dollars in advertising for his return and in tracing clues, and she has offered rewards as high as $2000 for information about him. Her search came to an end last Saturday, when she satisfied herself that a body taken from Pittsburgh Lake, East St. Louis, a few days after the boy's disappearance, and buried in the East Side Potter's Field, was that of her son. The body had been described, it now appears incorrectly, as that of a man.

Unidentified Boy Was Murdered.

Members of the Silverman family today asserted that they are convinced that Jacob was lured away and murdered. In support of this belief they point to the fact that when the body was taken from the lake the hands were strapped across the back with a leather belt.

Chief O'Brien, after reading of the circumstances in the Home Edition of the Post-Dispatch, announced in the afternoon that he would order an investigation made by the homicide squad of the Detective Bureau.

The body was exhumed in East St. Louis last Friday and was brought here, and arrangements were made by Mrs. Silverman and her daughter, Dr. Dora Silverman of 4323 Laclede avenue, for the funeral today. Interment was in a cemetery on the Ladue road.

Jacob Silverman was a public school pupil, having completed the grade course in the Lincoln School of June, 1914, and was to enter Central High School in the fall. He was seen in Union Station the afternoon of Sept. 5, 1914, by a boy living near the Silverman store.

He said to this boy that he was going to Valley Park, St. Louis County, with a man who was going there to get some pigeons, and that the man was to pay him $1 for helping him.

That was the last definite information about the boy which reached the mother. She could not learn that anyone had seen him later.

Mrs. Silverman visited not only Valley Park, but other suburban places. She offered a reward of $100 for information, and increased this offer.

Circulars of inquiry were sent in other cities. In sending out the printed sheets, would write across them, "Dear Jake, if you read this, I am still waiting for you."

Sister's Story of Search.

Dr. Dora Silverman today told a Post-Dispatch reporter of the manner in which her mother decided that Jacob had been drowned in East St. Louis.

"About 10 days after her brother disappeared," she said, "St. Louis newspapers published an item to the effect that the body of a man, described as about 30 years old, had been found in Pittsburgh Lake, east of East St. Louis. The body was strapped across the back with a leather belt, which indicated foul play, and there was no clothing except two stockings, with snappers attached, and one shoe, on which were two metal heel plates, one on top of the other."

The printed account stated that the body was that of a man about 30 years old.

ULTIMATUM BY BRITISH "WOULD MEAN FORCE"

De Valera Says That Would Not Mean Peace; Declares Irish Want Butter, Not Political Margarine.

LAST NOTE FROM IRISH DISCUSSED

Lloyd George Hears Members of His Cabinet, Civil and Military Authorities at Inverness, Scotland.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Sept. 6.—Eamon de Valera, the republican leader, declared in a statement to the press today that if England issued an ultimatum to the Sinn Fein no pretense would hide that it was an application of force, which must mean war and not peace.

In some quarters in London the belief has been expressed that the British Cabinet, at its meeting tomorrow in Inverness, Scotland, to consider De Valera's reply to Prime Minister Lloyd George, would give the Irish republican leaders a certain limited time in which to accept or reject the British Government's offer of dominion status for Ireland as a basis of solution of the Irish problem.

De Valera alluded to the British imperial statesmen as trying to sell Ireland a second rate political margarine, and as being angry because Irishmen refuse to accept the butter label. He added:

"Ireland wants butter. She will not be deceived into thinking she has it until she sees it actually delivered."

Premier and Members of Cabinet Discuss Situation.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Sept. 6.—Prime Minister Lloyd George today held conversations with members of his Cabinet and civil and military authorities in Ireland, relative to the situation which has arisen as a result of the latest note to the British Government from Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader.

The Prime Minister met his colleagues at Inverness, near Gairloch, Scotland, where Lloyd George has been spending a brief vacation. It was believed that the Irish situation would be talked over, preliminary to the meeting of the Cabinet, which will convene at Inverness tomorrow.

Although London newspapers continued today to counsel patience and forbearance in dealing with the Irish question, there are certain indications that the Irish controversy has virtually reached a crisis, and that tomorrow's meeting of the British Cabinet may prove historic. There are many who believe that De Valera and his colleagues at Dublin would be given a certain limited time in which they can either accept or reject the British Government's offer of dominion status for Ireland as a basis for a settlement of the ancient controversy.

A party of American tourists has been sent to the Premier and the Cabinet a box of cigars. According to the press, it was a note of personal esteem and of appreciation of Prime Minister Lloyd George's efforts to settle the age-long "Irish problem."

"There was expressed that Ireland and Great Britain might soon smoke together the pipe of peace."

Nine members of the British Cabinet departed yesterday for Inverness, where they will attend a Cabinet council to consider the reply of Eamon de Valera to Premier Lloyd George's last communication regarding the Irish situation.

Dail Eireann Denies Intention to Coerce Northwest Ulster.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Sept. 6.—The attention of the Sinn Fein publicity department was called yesterday to the address at Armagh Sunday of Owen O'Duffy, chief Sinn Fein liaison officer for Ulster, in which he was quoted as advocating coercion of Ulster. It was asked whether O'Duffy's speech had the approval of the Dail Eireann.

Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader, and other Sinn Fein chiefs were consulted, after which the following statement was made public:

"The Dail Eireann does not propose to use coercion against any portion of the Sinn Fein, nor does it propose to submit to coercion itself. Mr. O'Duffy's statement refers to the defense of the national minority at Belfast, who last week were wanted by shot down by organized and directed Orange gangs, which were permitted to act for two days without interference from either local or British authorities. Coercion will not be applied by us to a disobedient minority but it is not proposed that minority should be permitted to use firearms with impunity against our people resident among them."

U. S. to Loan Salvador $10,000,000.

By the Associated Press.
SAN SALVADOR, Republic of El Salvador, Sept. 6.—Negotiations in the United States for a loan of $10,000,000 have been brought to a successful conclusion by the Salvadoran Government. It is declared by newspapers here.

Principal Promoters of the Ku Klux Klan

probably a considerably greater sum. Ku Kluxing, from the inside, has been a paying enterprise and its lucrative possibilities have recently been increased by the decision to admit women as well as men to membership.

The original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., modestly begun five years ago, has become a vast enterprise and calls itself an "Invisible Empire," ruled by an "Emperor" and "Imperial Wizard." Col. William Joseph Simmons, who is no more legitimately a Colonel than he is an Emperor or a wizard. Closely associated with him, and making up the triumvirate or "Big Three," which controls its affairs, are Edward Young Clarke, "Imperial Kludge," a promoter, and Clarke's business partner in the management of the Southern Publicity Association of Atlanta, Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, who is the principal stockholder in the Searchlight, a newspaper published in Atlanta as the organ of the movement.

Efforts are being made to spread Ku Kluxism in the army and navy. For months its membership peddlers have been sending their anonymous circulars to officers on the reserve list of the military and naval forces.

"Knights of the Air," too. Also to reach the hundreds who flew during the war and the thousands then awakened to active interest in aviation, the promoters of the Klan last spring formed in Atlanta an aviation order, headed by "Emperor" Simmons and known as "The Invisible Planet, Knights of the Air." Membership in this was open to men, women and children. The price of admission was $10. Only Klansmen could be officers in the Knights of the Air.

The Klan organizers go out instructed by headquarters to make their first drive to secure city, town and village authorities as members, and to center their efforts also on judges of local and circuit courts and the police forces. In the weekly news letters sent out from Atlanta by Imperial Kludge Clarke for circulation among Klansmen, the success achieved along these lines is boasted.

What are the possibilities of such an organization as the Ku Klux Klan?

A partial answer to this question lies in a list of outrages committed by groups of masked men wearing white robes and hoods and announcing themselves to their victims as Ku Klux Klansmen. A large majority of these attacks on individuals have involved matters of behavior along the lines of personal morality, have flagrantly violated the Bill of Rights in the Federal Constitution and the charter law of every state in the Union, and have involved an assumption of authority to impose moral censorship on communities and citizens, summarily punish any "offenses," and set up and enforce standards covering every incident of private life.

The names and headquarters throughout the country of the Klans, the organizers who sell membership at $4 a head, photographs of pages and passages from the "Klan," of initiation ceremonies in widely separated parts of the country, of "imperial" manifestos put out by "Emperor" Simmons, of advertisements for salesmen and members will be published in succeeding articles.

A blistering letter of withdrawal from one of the most active Klans in the South, arraigning the "imperial wizard" for the things done in the name of the Klan will appear tomorrow.

Evidence of the great wealth of the organization is found in the millions paid in commissions to the Klans and the establishment of a $1,000,000 imperial palace in Atlanta, and the gift of a $10,000 home to "Col." Simmons and the recent purchase for him of the university where he was a few years ago a professor of Southern history.

LOCAL LEADER SAYS KLAN HAS MEN IN POLICE DEPARTMENT

"Grand Goblin" Estimates St. Louis Membership at 3500, All of Whom Have Paid Initiation Fee.

Frank A. Crippen of New Orleans, who has been in St. Louis since April last organizing a local branch of the Ku Klux Klan, said the St. Louis branch now had 3500 members who had paid the initiation fee of $10 each, or a total of $35,000, and that these "knights" included men in the Police Department and city hall. He could not divulge the names of any of these members, nor of the local officers, as the by-laws of the organization forbid even a member himself to disclose his allegiance to the Klan.

Crippen, who styles himself "grand goblin of the Mississippi Valley," lives at Planters Hotel, where several meetings of the Klan, veiled in mystery and under the guise of the Missouri Business Men's League, have been held. He is of middle age and said he had been an officer in the American army. He wears the American Legion button with a silver center, issued only to men who had been wounded.

Although the operations of the Klan as a body are conducted with secrecy, Crippen spoke with feeling of the ideals of the organization. He expatiated upon "native-born Americanism, patriotism, law enforcement, protection of our womanhood," etc., and set up the Ku Klux Klan as a society for the purification and protection of American ideals and aspirations.

Speaking of himself as a former soldier, he said: "There are thousands of buddies in the Ku Klux Klan. In fact our total membership in the United States now is about 100,000, to which it grew from 30,000 last July."

He would not divulge the place of the St. Louis meetings, but he did say the white gown was not worn by all the members. Only the grand goblin, which happens to be himself, frequently has the distinction of wearing this gown. Other grand goblins, who are the heads of local branches of the Klan, also wear the white gown and masked hood.

At a meeting of the local branch, Aug. 13, in the ballroom of Planters Hotel and 200 men were present, and at a previous meeting some of those attending wore the white robe, outside to wear, wearing long white robes. Those entering the meetings appeared to be workmen of moderate means. Not one would give information of the purpose of the meeting.

OFFICIALS IN JAIL FOR REFUSING TO TAX POOR

Thirty London Councillors Declared They Will Remain There Rather Than Rescind Action.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1921, by the Press Publishing Co., New York.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The example of the Popular Borough Councillors who refused to pay the money to the London County Council and the Metropolitan Asylums boards, is creating a serious situation in the East End of London.

The Popular Council has diverted to the relief of the unemployed money which otherwise would be paid to the County Council. When ordered by the court to pay the County Council the money, the Councillors refused and virtually all of the 30 members are now behind prison bars and determined to remain there rather than rescind their action.

Yesterday the five women councillors were taken into custody. They were arrested because they were expected to pay the money to the County Council. The women expressed their readiness to surrender, and named the place and hour for the arrest. The place was the town hall of Poplar and the time 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Hours before the time immense crowds, women predominating, gathered in the town hall. There were prolonged demonstrations of sympathy for the councillors, and of antagonism to the county authorities.

Hands of music led great delegations from the various sections of the great East End which proceeded to the hall. Demonstrations marked the arrival of the five women councillors, of whom Mrs. Edgar Lansbury and Mrs. Sturges delivered farwell addresses both within the town hall and from the balcony to the great throngs outside.

One speaker from Shorehithe predicted that the unswerving of London would make a "red week" of next week in support of the councillors. Placed under arrest by the Sheriff, the five women prisoners were led to an automobile for the trip to Brixton Prison, but the immense throngs which jammed the thoroughfares and insisted upon accompanying the party permitted only a funeral-like pace through the district.

Before going to jail the councillors have warned huge crowds against disorders. A "no rent" strike being advocated by some leaders of the unemployed.

Wives of the councillors made the charge that the prisoners are deprived of sufficient food.

TWO FINED FOR PICKETING MOTION PICTURE THEATER

Members of Operators' Union Will Appeal, They Say—Five Others Discharged.

George Manyon, 109 South Fifteenth street and E. J. Fitzgerald of Velliston were fined $15 each by Police Judge Mix today on a peace disturbance charge brought by John Gorski, proprietor of a motion picture theater at Twentieth and O'Farrell avenue.

They are members of the union of motion picture operators, which has been spending pickets to Gorski's theater to pass out circulars in which it is charged that he is unfair to union labor in operating his picture machine himself.

As the pickets have appeared on succeeding nights the police have been arresting them. So far, 12, besides the two fined, have been arrested. Five were discharged today by Judge Mix and the cases against the others were continued.

Manyon and Fitzgerald announced that they would appeal from the fine.

to be an adult and were stockings. It was said, too, at the time that a bicycle had been found abandoned near the lake. All these reports, according to Dr. Silverman, seemed to confuse the situation and every way they turned they encountered some obstacle to discourage their belief that the body was that of Jacob.

Mrs. Silverman now lives at 4333 Laclede avenue with her son, Isadore, and daughter, She still conducts the haberdashery at 2103 Market street, which was closed today. Her husband, Moses L. Silverman, who was an invalid at the time Jacob disappeared, has since died. Another brother, Abraham, also survives.

There was no formal funeral service at the undertaking establishment, and only a brief service of prayer was held at the grave. The funeral was private, 18 relatives attending.

I shall at any and all times be faithful and true in all things, and most especially in preventing and suppressing any factions, dissensions or conspiracies against him or his plans and purposes or the peace and harmony of the society which may arise or attempt to arise. This pledge, promise and guarantee I make as a condition precedent to my appointment stated above, and the continuity of my appointment as a Kludge, and it is fully agreed that any deviation by me from this pledge will instantly automatically cancel and completely void my appointment together with all its prerogatives, my membership in the society, and I shall forfeit all remunerations which may be then due me.

I make this solemn pledge on my Oath of Allegiance and on my integrity and honor as a man and as a Klansman, with serious purpose to keep the same inviolate.

TWO WOMEN, THREE MEN SHOT BY PARTY IN AUTO

Police Trying to Solve Attack on Persons on Porch of Bungalow in Evanston.

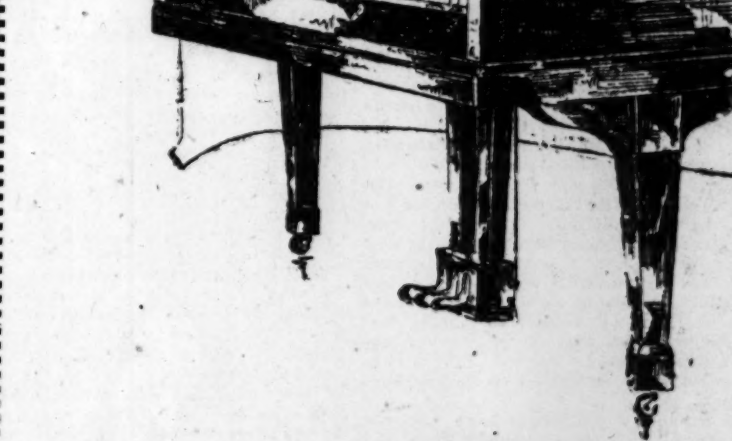

By the Associated Press.
EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 6.—The shooting of two women and three young men as they sat on the front porch of a bungalow on Lovers Lane last night took on a mysterious hue today when it was learned that the slaying of the five had been accompanied by a spirited exchange of bulldozers and bullets between the women and the occupants of a touring car at the roadside.

The five were in hospital today, the women unconscious and the young men disfigured. Any inside information other than that they had been called to the bungalow supposedly to protect the women from kidnappers.

The women admitted today, according to the police, that 11 rifle bullet holes in their screen door were the marks of their own participation in the battle.

The automobile drew up before the bungalow last night and without delay the occupants began shooting. Their volleys felled each of the five on the porch and peppered the front of the house with bullet holes. The women refused to elaborate on their part in the affair, except to admit, after their empty rifle

ACCIDENT VERDICT IN DEATH OF MAN BY AUTO

Charles Metz, 2715 Cass Avenue, Killed When Machine Hit Telephone Pole.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today at the inquest over Charles Metz, 40 years old, of 2715 Cass avenue, a roofing foreman, who was fatally injured at 10 p. m. yesterday when hurled from an automobile driven by Frederick Kohl, 33, of 1228 South Eighth street, a roofer, when the machine swerved and struck a telephone pole on Chouteau avenue, 75 feet west of Mississippi avenue. Metz died of a fractured skull while in the city hospital receiving room.

In the machine besides Kohl and Metz were Frank Brumitt, 27, of 1227 South Seventh street, a chauffeur; Herbert Bruce, 25, a showman, of 1206 Chouteau avenue; Ray Campbell, 21, a chauffeur, of 1228 South Eighth street. All escaped serious injury.

At the inquest Kohl testified that he was driving in the street, on tracks, which were slippery from rain, and that a rear wheel of his automobile collapsed, throwing the machine against a pole. He said he was not trying to turn out of the track at the time.

Brumitt testified that when Metz got in the machine at Jefferson street and Randolph street he had a bottle of whiskey, from which he drank, and that he was a member of the party took a drink. He said no one in the machine except Metz showed the effects of drink.

It had been found that they had swerved the fire. The women, who occupy the bungalow, are Miss G. B. Dow, a daughter, and Miss Minnie C. Marech, a Chicago school teacher. The young men are Harold and Harry Chalmers, and William Heeketh, all of Evanston.

FOR LAFAYETTE AND THE FIRST MARNE

Ceremonies Held at Tomb
of Washington; Messages from Harding, Hughes and French Officials Read.

U. S. INDEBTEDNESS TO GENERAL STRESSED

Attention Also Called to Courage of Americans Who Turned Tide of Battle
at Chateau Thierry.

By the Associated Press.
MOUNT VERNON, Va., Sept. 6.—
The dual anniversary of the birth of Lafayette and the first battle of the Marne was celebrated with impressive ceremonies today at the tomb of Washington.

President Harding, who was unable to be present, sent a message
declaring that America's indebtedness
to the French soldier was eternal and praising the "dauntless courage" of American soldiers in the second battle of the Marne. Similar messages were sent by Secretary of State Hughes and Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France.

Test of President's Message.
The President's message said:
"To Gen. Lafayette in no small measure the success of the revolution was due. With no sword or spear, but with the power of his pen, he inspired the courage of the struggling colonies and led them to their independence. He taught the world that liberty is the right of every man, and that the only way to secure it is by the sacrifice of blood and treasure. His example is our inspiration today, and his teachings
are our guide."

"Similarly, nearly 150 years after,
these United States, grown to a nation of more than 100,000,000 free men, women and children, discharging
material advantages for themselves
and for the world, have again turned to France for aid and protection. We are proud to stand with them, and we know that the same spirit which led them to ultimate victory by which the integrity of France and human rights were preserved. By their courage, their dauntless courage,
and their resolute valor, they checked
the German advance at Chateau Thierry and Belleau wood in the second battle of the Marne and started the memorable retreat of the German armies which a few months later
ended in final defeat."

"The friendly and cordial relation which exist between the United States and France do not therefore rest upon mere sentimentality
or selfish interests; but rather are they built on the firm foundation of historic mutual service which cannot be shaken."

Secretary Hughes' Message.
Secretary Hughes said:
"It does not seem fitting that there should be associated with this celebration the observance of the anniversary of the battle of the Marne,
for through that battle, turning seemingly irretrievable retreat into a magnificent victory, the preservation of those great principles of human liberty and rights which Lafayette cherished was ultimately secured."

"It is further gratifying that in this celebration the friendship and good will which we entertain for France will be appropriately emphasized. The relations between the two countries are built on a solid foundation of service and of mutual helpfulness in the cause of free institutions."

Ambassador Herrick's Cablegram.
Ambassador Herrick cabled:
"Lafayette and the Marne are names inscribed forever on our banner,
on the banner of France and on the hearts of our citizens and ours."

"We rejoice that we stand beside France for liberty at the second Marne and gratefully acknowledge our indebtedness to Lafayette and to France, our ally in the war for our independence and the defender
of liberty in the dark days of 1914."

"As one to whom it was given to be witness to the sound of the firing at the first Marne and to witness Americans battling for the common cause of liberty
on the same hallowed ground
these two sisters in freedom
whose hands stretch out to each other across the Atlantic will continue in the future as in the past to find ways to safeguard the liberties
common to them both and in contemplating the splendid strides which France is making in rising from the ruins of invasion I find the certainty that her virtue and courageous people will continue to be worthy of great cause."

From President Millard.
From President Millard of France came this message:
"In commemorating the double anniversary of the birth of Lafayette and of the battle of the Marne, the American people shows its attachment to the principles which have made its independence."

Premier Briand sent the following:
"In the schools of France the

ROY GARDNER.

pages in which our history merges
with yours are read to the children.
They learn therein the gratitude which every Frenchman owes to the American heroes who died at Saint Mihel, at Belleau Wood, at Chateau Thierry."

Ambassador Jusserand sent the following:
"The events of immense importance which Washington and Lafayette could never have foreseen, confirmed and made even safer for all time their life's work, which was American independence and Franco-American friendship. The Marne and Verdun, Chateau-Thierry and Saint-Mihel—it is impossible to imagine what could put them in jeopardy.
Woe to any who try. Blessings to all participants in our faiths."

Marshal Foch cabled that the dual anniversary was "a reminder of the mighty bonds which will ever unite our two countries."

Message From Marshal Joffre.
A message from Marshal Joffre
said:

"The name of Lafayette awakens
the same emotions in all Americans and all Frenchmen; it recalls to each
the remembrance of the friendly nations and their common ideal of liberty; may the memory of the great Frenchman remain forever honored on both shores of the Atlantic and may it remind each generation of all the blood shed in common on the battlefields of freedom."

"We honor the great French General who cast his lot with our fathers, and pay our devoted tribute to the gallant men of the Marne—our comrades in the world war," said a message from Gen. Pershing. "May these memories serve to unite the two countries still more closely in bonds of mutual confidence and

KIEL ACCEPTS AN INVITATION TO GO UP IN FLYING BOAT

Mayor Promises Commander of "Santa Maria" to Cruise Above
the City Tomorrow.

Mayor Kiel today accepted an invitation from Commander E. J.
Riley of the flying boat "Santa Maria" to go up tomorrow morning over the city. Although he has had many invitations, this is the first that he has promised to accept. The Mayor told a Post-Dispatch reporter
this morning at the city hall that he thought that his nerve was good.

The Santa Maria arrived here Sunday on her way to Vera Cruz, Mexico, where she will be used as an exhibition ship after completing flights over United States waters.
She has a spread of wings of 104
feet and is capable of carrying 11 passengers and three operators. The ship has a lifting power of 15,000 pounds and can travel at a speed of 10 miles an hour in the air or 40
miles an hour through the water.

The Santa Maria is owned by the Aeromarine Airways Co. of New York City and started her flight from Havana, Cuba.

ROBBERS GET $400 IN STORE HOLDUP ON GRAND AVENUE

Armed Men Enter United Cigar Shop in Grand Central Theater Building at 8:20 This Morning.

MANAGER COMPELLED TO OPEN THE SAFE

Dry Goods Store on Franklin Avenue Is Robbed a Few Minutes Later of $280 and Jewelry.

Ralph Doty, manager of the United Cigar Store at the northeast corner of Grand and Lucas avenues, in the new Grand Central Theater Building, called the police at 8:20 o'clock this morning and said two men had entered a few minutes before with drawn revolvers, which they pointed at him and ordered him to open the safe. He did so and he said that they took $400 from the safe and the cash register, and escaped with money.

Armed Men Get $280 and Jewelry
In Morning Holdup.

Two men entered the dry goods store of Joseph Fadem, 2642 Franklin avenue, at about 8:30 a. m. Fa-dem's wife, Mrs. Fannie Fadem, was in charge and was alone. They pointed revolvers at her. She screamed. One of them struck her on the head. From a closet they took $280, four diamond rings, three other rings and a $300 watch. Mrs.
Fadem was taken to the city dispensary with a scalp wound.

The rear door of the Grafenau & McIntosh Ice Cream Co.'s place of business at 2524 Franklin avenue was found open by a policeman at 10:45 o'clock last night. It had been forced. The safe had been moved from the front of the office behind
a partition and the combination knocked off. Currency amounting to $175 and checks for $704 had been taken. The robbers overlooked $7 in a cash drawer.

No light was burning near the safe
and the police say a firm declared to last of one, in compliance with a recent request. Fred Grafenau, 4462 Oakland avenue, said the firm carried $1000 burglary insurance.

UNDERTAKING STOCK BRINGS $1450 A SHARE

Par Value of Wagoner Shares, Sold to Satisfy Former Wife's Suit, $100.

Twenty-one shares of the Wagoner
Undertaking Co. stock brought $26-480 at a Sheriff's sale at the courthouse today when it was sold to satisfy a separate maintenance judgment held by Mrs. Lulu L. Wagoner against her former husband, George C. R. Wagoner, president of the company. The par value of the stock is $100. At the sale the prices paid for the shares ranged from $700 to $1450. The amount realized was more than five times the capitalization of the company, which is $5000.

In the course of a court hearing preceding the sale Harry H. Wagoner, a brother of George C. R. Wagoner, exclaimed that an effort was being made to sell stock which belonged to him. He made a motion as if to strike Ford W. Thompson, an attorney for Mrs. Wagoner. Later he threatened Thompson in the courtroom rotunda.

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs.
Wagoner filed a suit for a restraining order to prevent interference with the sale. This was granted. She named as defendants Sheriff Mohr-stadt, Attorney Patrick H. Cullen, Mrs. N. B. McEwing of Albany, N.
Y., Mrs. S. Z. Wagoner, her former husband's mother, and the United States Bank.

After the sale today Mrs. S. Z.
Wagoner filed suit against the Sheriff to recover the value of the stock
and her $5000 additional damages.
All of the stock sold was bought in
by members of the Wagoner family
and their attorneys.

Mrs. Wagoner in 1916 obtained a judgment against Wagoner for $400
a month separate maintenance.
About a year later Wagoner obtained a divorce in Reno, Nev. Since then he has refused to pay separate maintenance to his former wife. She alleged that there remained due to her $25,080, to obtain which she offered to Sheriff's sale stock in the Wagoner Undertaking Co. and in the H. H. Wagoner Realty Co. Ownership of some of this stock is claimed by Wagoner's mother, Mrs. S. Z.
Wagoner, of 4167 Lindell boulevard.

Mrs. Wagoner alleged that her former husband gave her the stock
as a present before their separation,
but later had it transferred to his mother. Her petition alleges that Wagoner was powerful in Republican politics and that he used this power to prevent her from selling the stock. The petition asserted that when she made a former effort to sell the stock Sheriff Mohrstadt advised the sale in such a way that the stock was not accurately described and that it was not made clear that the purchaser would have a good title to it.

PRESIDENT AND PARTY HOME

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—President and Mrs. Harding and a party of friends, including a number of high officials, returned to Washington today aboard the presidential yacht Mayflower, from their weekend trip.

The Mayflower arrived at her dock
at the navy yard shortly before 11 o'clock, completing a cruise that started Saturday afternoon and extended down the Potomac River and Chesapeake Bay and as far up the coast as Atlantic City, where the President had hoped to spend Labor day.

FOUR DROWNED IN THE RIVER BELOW KIMMSWICK, MO.

Two Women and Two Children, Three of Whom Are St. Louisans, Perish While in Bathing Sunday.

JOINT SERVICES TO BE CONDUCTED HERE

Mrs. Helen Stansbury, Miss
Ella Cook and C. A. Miller Will Be Buried From East-
on Ave. Parlors.

Joint funeral services for Mrs. Helen Stansbury, 19 years old, 4762 Cote Brilliant avenue; Miss Ella Cook, 23 years old, same address, and Clarence A. Miller Jr., 9 years old, of 5832A Easton avenue, who were drowned Sunday afternoon at Willow Springs, below Kimmswick, Mo., will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from an undertaking chapel at 5966 Easton avenue. All three will be interred at Valhalla Cemetery. The bodies of the three were recovered the same afternoon.

The body of Katie Smith, 11 years old, who was drowned at the same time, was recovered at 9 a. m. yesterday, a mile south of Willow Springs. The four were members of a swimming party and all except Miss Cook were related. Mrs. Stansbury was the wife of Raymond Stansbury, 1835 Olive street, who was killed in the St. Charles Stansbury family. Clarence Miller was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Miller. Katie Smith was the daughter of Mrs. Matilda Smith of Kimmswick.

Planned Two-Day Visit.
The St. Louisans went Sunday morning to spend Sunday and Monday with Mrs. Smith, who is the grandmother of the Miller boy. In the afternoon they went swimming in the Mississippi River near the Providence Association Orphan's
Camp. The Smith girl got beyond the life guard, Charles Smith, tried to save her and succeeded in bringing her within 15 feet of the bank, when she clutched him around the neck and dragged him under. Details of the developments were withheld but the President and his advisers were said to be well satisfied with the trend of events.

Father Learns of Deaths.
The father of the Miller boy was attending a funeral in Alton and was to have joined the party Sunday night. He learned of the drownings on his return to St. Louis from Alton.
The bodies of the two young women and the boy were recovered in a short time, but that of the Smith
girl was swept away.

Mrs. Stansbury leaves, besides her husband, an infant of 15 months.
Miss Cook has a brother, supposed to be in Bloom, Kan.

BRIDE SAID TO HAVE BEEN KIDNAPED TAKEN TO COURT

Police Sergeant Who Says He Is
Father of Mrs. Kosmehl Charges
She Is Not of Age.

Mrs. Brigette Kosmehl, bride of Oscar Kosmehl, 2815 St. Vincent avenue, secretary of the J. I. Chappell Optical Co., 214 Olive street,
who he says was kidnaped Friday
from the Chappell store by Police Sergeant Bernard Venerloh, 2735 Arden place, was taken into Circuit Judge Klen's court today by Venerloh in obedience to an order issued when Kosmehl filed a habeas corpus suit Saturday.

In his answer to the order to show cause, Sergeant Venerloh stated that the girl was his daughter and that she was born in December, 1904.
She was married, he said, through misrepresentation as to her age.
Kosmehl, the answer declared, was not a suitable person to have her because he had induced her to misrepresent her age. The answer states that a suit to annul the marriage has been filed. No such suit has been filed up to this time, but E.
L. Thoroughman, attorney for Venerloh, said it would be filed today.

Samuel I. Sievers, attorney for Kosmehl, told the Judge the girl was 18 and denied that she was Venerloh's child. Kosmehl says her parents are both dead and that Venerloh is her stepfather.

Judge Klen said he would have to first determine whether his court
or the Court of Domestic Relations had jurisdiction, and he laid the case over to have that point settled. He issued an order that the girl be permitted to have a confer-
torney in the latter's office.

STRIKERS SAY THEY WERE DRIVEN AWAY FROM MINES

Story of Disorders Told by Men Reaching Harrisburg From Ros-chare and Elizabethtown, Ill.

HARRISBURG, Ill., Sept. 6.—
Striking miners from the Fluorspar mines of Hardin County arrived here
at noon today and declared reports that the strikers and their families were driven from their homes by mine guards were correct.

They told a story of disorders and chaos between the miners and the mine guards lasting for several days,
and reported that miners had been driven out of Roselare and Elizabethtown, where the mines of the Hillside Fluorspar Co. are located.

There were more than 50 men in the party which reached here today.
They said that even tents erected in Elizabethtown by miners were destroyed and the occupants driven out.
They reported that Ed Carson, an whose land a number of tents had been set up, was beaten by mine guards.

ing union miners from the coal districts around this city were stopped
in the hills yesterday by Hardin County strikers and turned back.
A union organizer, Ed Carbine,
who has been active in the Fluorspar fields recently, was said to have gone to Springfield for a conference with Gov. Smith today.

COURT HEARING REVEALS GIRL WAS CARRIED AWAY IN AUTO

When the habeas corpus case
brought by John Morse of Bradford,
N. Y., for possession of his daughter, Flossie Morse, 12 years old, held by the Board of Children's Guardians was called in the Criminal Court
this afternoon, it was announced that the child was carried away Saturday from in front of the home of Miss Anna McVey, 3836
Cook avenue, by two men in an automobile.

The police report was that the automobile license number was that of Verne Lacy, attorney for Morse.
Lacy said he was at the St. Charles Golf Club Saturday and knew nothing about the child being carried away.

The child was turned over to the Board of Children's Guardians after being found in the company of Homer Reed, alias Charles Stevens,
in a rooming house at 818 Market street. He is alleged to have brought her here from New York.

Judge Hall dismissed the habeas corpus proceeding for lack of jurisdiction.

PROMOTER CUTS THROAT AT HOTEL, LEAPS TO DEATH

George E. Leighton of 5935 Kingsbury Ave. Kills Himself at Warwick After Borrowing Friend's Razor.

PLUNGES FROM SIXTH FLOOR TO SKYLIGHT

Sound of 80-Foot Fall Escapes Notice, but Body Is Located by Trail of Blood Through Bathroom.

George E. Leighton, 32 years old, of 5935 Kingsbury boulevard, until last May a salesman for the Edler Manufacturing Co., 129 Washington avenue, and since then a promoter, was found dead in a light well above the lobby of the Warwick Hotel, Fifteenth and Locust streets, at 11:15 o'clock last night after he had cut his throat with a razor and jumped from a sixth-story window, a distance of about 50 feet.

Leighton, who was married, had been under treatment for a nervous disorder. Lewis Shepherd of Chattanooga, Tenn., occupant of Room 675, from which Leighton jumped, said Leighton had been "acting queerly." He and Leighton were old friends. Several times in the last week Leighton, with Shepherd's permission, had used the room, saying he wanted a quiet place to write letters.

Had Complained of Business.

Shepherd, who is a salesman for the Edler company, said since leaving that company Leighton had been engaged in some promotion project and had complained that his plans were not going well.

Harry C. Barker, an attorney in the Boatmen's Bank Building, today said he had been acting as Leighton's counsel in the organization of a stock company to be known as the Apex Selling System. He said Leighton called on him for a conference yesterday, but talked so incoherently that no business was transacted. Barker said that after this conference he was informed that Leighton had told others he intended to kill himself. For this reason relatives had been trying to find Leighton during the afternoon and evening.

Leighton visited Shepherd at the room last night and remained there when Shepherd went out about 8 p. m. Shepherd returned to the hotel about 11 p. m. In the lobby he met Oscar Condon of 5899 Nina place, who said he had received a note from Leighton which was illegible. Going to the room, they found the door locked. They heard Leighton moving about inside. A leiboy was boosted over the transom. He opened the door and said Leighton had cut himself. As they opened the door they heard the noise of a window screen being knocked out. Leighton jumped from the window while they were entering.

They found bloodstains on the bathroom floor and on the sill of the bathroom window, which was open. Shepherd's razor, also blood-stained, lay on the bathroom floor.

Sound of Fall Not Heard.

The night manager of the hotel looked from the back window into the light well and saw Leighton's body. Examination showed the throat was cut. There also was a deep cut on the right chest. This is believed to have been caused by contact with the metal screen over the glass roof of the skylight. So far as could be learned, no one in the hotel noticed the noise of Leighton's body striking the skylight.

In one of Leighton's pockets were three deposit slips of the Liberty Central Trust Co., showing he had deposited $300 July 28, $450 July 28, and $425 Aug. 17. There also was $18.45 in cash.

Telegrams Promised Money.

In another pocket was a grocery bill for $23.40 and a telegram from Sherman, Tex., dated July 23 and signed E. J. Neathery, Leighton's father-in-law. It read: "Am mailing check for $1500. Will try and send another $1000 the last of the week." Leighton's wife is with her father at Gallup, N. M.

How the negro came to his death, or who set fire to the Bull's Head Social and Pleasure Club building, where the negroes were holding a meeting to protest against the action of certain white men engaged in the original trouble at the ball park, has not been determined. MRS. W. C. M'BRIDE LOSES RINGS ON TRAINJewels Valued at $20,000 by St.
Louis Woman Disappear in Pullman Car Stateroom.Mrs. William C. McBride of 29
Washington terrace and her daughter, Miss Dorothy McBride, are expected to arrive in St. Louis this evening from Boston. A dispatch from Boston says that Mrs. McBride lost three rings, valued by her at nearly $20,000, in the washroom of her stateroom on a train on which she traveled from Biddford Pool,
Me., to Boston.Birch O. Mahaffey of 28 Kingsbury place, a son-in-law of Mrs. Mc-Bride, said today that Mrs. McBride had telegraphed to him that the rings had been lost in the washroom connected with her stateroom, and that it was not believed they were taken by any passenger on the train,
as the other passengers did not have access to the stateroom.He said he did not know the value of the rings, but that one of them,
set with a diamond and two emeralds, was of such fine workmanship
as to be almost impossible of replacement.The dispatch from Boston says that the ring set with diamonds and emeralds was insured for $17,500.
The others were diamond rings of less value.Mrs. McBride said she was washing her hands when the train entered the station in Boston, and that she forgot the rings and left them
on the washstand. She remembered the rings as soon as she had reached a hotel, and as soon as she notified railroad officials the car was searched, but the rings were not found.Employees who had access to the car
said they had not seen the rings.
Mrs. McBride, the Boston dispatch states, telegraphed to the St. Louis office of the indemnity company which had insured the rings, and the company instructed her to offer a reward and place the matter in the hands of a detective agency. She offered a reward of $500.$1 Checked GinghamAs offer that affords mothers the opportunity of economically

POLICE CALLED BY RADIO TO QUELL RIOT ON STEAMER

White and Negro Members of Shipping Board Freighters Clash in New York Harbor.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Policemen with riot guns, summoned by a radio message telling of mutiny, today broke up a fight between negro and white members of the crew of the Shipping Board freighter Chester Kiwanis, anchored off Staten Island. They found Capt. Charles Boothby barricaded in his cabin, bruised and bitten. He attributed his injuries to white members of the crew.
When the police boat John F. Hyman approached the officers heard shots and saw negroes and whites in a battle royal on deck. It developed that 12 negroes were opposing the rush of 30 whites toward the barricaded captain's cabin. The trouble was quelled in an hour without the police firing a shot. The police left the vessel after driving the whites below decks and waiting till they had gone asleep. The negroes remained on deck guarding the captain.
The fight had been almost continuous since the freighter dropped anchor Saturday night and had been brewing since she left Boulogne, 12 days previously. Capt. Boothby's person, was the whites had an erroneous idea that he was favoring negroes in the distribution of work and the trouble culminated when they vowed to "get" him. None of the combatants was seriously injured and the captain said he desired no arrests made.

Blouses Are Unusual
this season. In some cases the designer has made use of materials decidedly out-of-the-ordinary, but more frequently it is the style or trimming which is unique. One striking feature is all-over embroidery, and the woman with the over-the-knee model so adorned, may know she has made the wise choice.

Blouse Shop—Third Floor.

Extravagance
—is the expenditure of money for an article which will give dissatisfaction in a short time. The Fur Coat bought for $500.00 is often more economical than the Cloth Coat which cost $125.00 and was unfit for wear the following season. Why, the finest minkskin Cape is only $498.50
Fur Shop—Third Floor.

The Most Noticeable
—thing about the Millinery Shop is the prominent place given to the Hats which are well draped. Your dark-eyed Senora from old Madrid would feel quite at home in Paris and St. Louis alike, for every other Hat has a suggestion of lace mantilla. Some of them are priced as low as $10.00 Hat Shop—Third Floor.

The Cleverest Costumes
—aren't necessarily the most expensive. A very delightful effect is sometimes achieved by the simple combination of the furits sweater, or soft duvety jacket with exactly the right plaid or striped skirt. A yard and a half of material, plus a skirt at $4.95—equals a saving of about $25.00.
Skirt Shop—Third Floor.

The Tiny Shopper
—isn't having the least bit of difficulty in selecting her Coat and Bonnet at the week. The curly headed little blonde and the soft blue Bolivia Coat with the beaver collar, and the pink lined robe Bonnet to match so obviously belong to one another, that a purchase is only a matter of minutes.
Baby Shop—Third Floor.

Time for Tea
—and after an afternoon spent in shopping, it is a relief to rest under the subdued light of the Tea Room, chat over your cup of fragrant tea, and tell of the remarkable bargains you found. Tea served from 3 o'clock until closing time.

First Testimony at Building Materials Hearing Will Be in Lumber Trade Exchange Case.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 3.—Attorney General Barrett today declined to disclose the identity of witnesses to be called in the first hearing Friday, under ouster suits brought by him in the Supreme Court against three coalitions of St. Louis building material men, the St. Louis Lumber Trade Exchange, the St. Louis Material Dealers' Association and the St. Louis Planing Mill Men's Association.

The first testimony to be taken will be in the Lumber Trade Exchange case, which will be heard by former Congressman Dorsey W. Shackelford as special commissioner.

FITZGERALD, Ga., Sept. 3.—Mayor J. L. Pittman of Fitzgerald and 18 other men were indicted yesterday by a special grand jury upon a blanket charge of "interfering with employees" of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad. ZIONISTS DEPLORE LOSS OF SOME LEADING AMERICAN JEWS

Organization Not 'Strong Enough To Do Without Justice Brandeis' It Is Declared in Debate.

By the Associated Press.
CARLSBAD, Sept. 4.—The Zionist Congress brought its general exhaustive debate to a close with a late session last night at which Dr. Chaim Weizmann, head of the World's Zionist organization, concluded with an impassioned defense of the executive committee. Throughout the discussion the defection of some of the American Jews constantly recurred and the general tone was one of unhappiness that leading figures in America had been allowed to become alienated from the Zionist movement.

Isaac Allen of New York declared that the delegation from the United States present at the Congress did not represent the American Jewry when such men as Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish Committee, were absent. The Polish Deputy, Farstein, said the organization was not strong enough to lose men of the caliber of Justice Brandeis. Peace would have been possible, he added, had not Michael Ustichkin, chairman of the Zionist Commission in Palestine, gone to the United States and intervened.

Delegate Ruppin made a general defense of the resident Palestine officials, particularly defending the much criticized land purchase as a profitable investment.

The noticeably large number of men who managed to get through from Soviet Russia to attend the Congress had been increased by the arrival of the Russian Zionist leader Burtakova.

INDICTMENT OF SECOND CHICAGO BANKER IN LIQUOR CASE SOUGHT

By the Associated Press.

Monahan, Assistant United States District Attorney, announced today. His name was not disclosed. Carl M. Rehrens, vice president of the Lincoln Avenue Trust and Savings Bank, has already been indicted, as have a number of others. The investigation started several months ago when it was discovered $15,000 had been used to

Total $6373.74

Reports of an even dozen benefits and one direct cash contribution added $131.26 to the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund during the last two days, bringing the total amount to $6373.74.

A check for $32.10 was received as the proceeds of the picture show given by William Lang and Ewing Dula at 3719 Humphrey street on Sept. 1. Of this amount $25 came from paid admissions and the balance of donated refreshments.

Children from the neighborhood gave a show at 4576 Newberry terrace, which netted $26. The workers' names follow: Fannie Wallerstein, Mary Orenstein, Nora Langford, Fannie Sofian, Sarah and Della Chelst, Helen Powers, Edna Polachek, Edward Wallerstein, Max and Charles Orenstein, Martin Herman and Billy Thesing.

Alice and Eugene Callarata, assisted by Elwood Lightfoot and Richard Meyer, conducted a lemonade stand at 5901 Delmar boulevard and earned $19.54 for the Milk and Ice Fund. Eugene and Elmer Caffarata, in company with Ella Martha Martin, Ida Rice, Karl Krumacher and Marie Renaudo, gave a show at 5917 Delmar boulevard and cleared $11.64 for the fund.

Evans Avenue Children Aid.

A show at 4409 Evans avenue added $9.50 to the fund. The participants were Lillian Bessie and Editha Abramowitz, Evelyn Cooper, Hazel Owens, Harry and Philip Schevitzky, Joe Kornbleet and Dave Silverman.

Eight children gave a show at 5617 Wells avenue which made $8.36 for the Milk and Ice Fund. Those who took part were Lucille Emery, Alice Kavanagh, Grace Devlin, Marie Brady, Marjorie and Margaret Brady, Leonora Carr and Elizabeth Stobie.

A balance of $8.50 was reported from the picture show which was given at the Fry Memorial Methodist Church, 4633 Clifton avenue, Clifton Heights. Acknowledgment of $17.31 from this affair was made in the Post-Dispatch of Aug. 31, and with the increase, the total amount cleared by the affair is $25.36.

Florence Roan, Ruth Altken, Eleanor Clapstein and Edna Magner planned to give a show at 6214 Ridge avenue, and they sold quite a number of tickets for the affair. They were not able to give the show because of sickness and returned the purchase price to as many of the ticket buyers as requested it, and gave the $8 balance on hand to the fund.

Money Order Is Donated.

A money order for $2.67 was sent by Helen Ryan and Virginia Purley, who earned that amount by giving a show at 6136 Crescent avenue.

Julia Sibley and Hale and Betty Wegener conducted a lemonade stand in Waverly place, Webster Groves, and realized $2.50 for the babies' fund.

A lemonade stand in University City earned $1.50. Those in charge were Elizabeth and "Perry" Croft, Thomas Mills and Carl Giesley.

Bernice Gold of 5501 Easton avenue earned 40 cents with a lemonade stand and sent the money to the fund. One dollar was received "in loving memory of my darling mother."

YOUTH IS KICKED IN FOREHEAD

Lawrence Miles, 17 years old, of 2119 North Thirteenth street, and Harvey Chauvaux of 1204 Madison street, reported last night that they were accosted at Twelfth and Madison streets at 9 p. m. by Homer Simpson, 7, of 1117 Chambers street, who, they told police, threw his arms around their necks and asked for a bite of the sandwiches they were eating. He got his bite and then demanded a cigarette. Told they had none, they said, he knocked Miles down and kicked him in the forehead.

Miles was treated at the city hospital for lacerated wounds of the forehead and was home. Simpson was later arrested at the corner and is to answer a charge of disturbing the peace.

negro and wounded a policeman. A white man and a negro woman, living in the Papin street neighbor-

bullets. Blue, who was wounded slightly, is a prisoner at city hospital
No. 2.Blue, who is said to have been intoxicated, was visiting a family living at 3042 Laclede avenue, at 7:30
last night, when Frank Lambert, a negro, 35, of 3402 Lawton avenue, entered the house, having been called from a pool room to answer
a telephone call. Blue renewed a former quarrel with Lambert and shot him three times, causing immediate death.Blue escaped, and policemen from the Laclede Avenue Station, as well as the homicide squad, went to the neighborhood of Fifteenth and Papin streets to look for him. At 8:45, when Lieut. Walton of the homicide squad and three others were in waiting, an automobile containing four negroes stopped on the south side of Papin street, near Fifteenth.Blue was in auto.
The second negro who got out was Blue, and he began firing at the policemen. He wounded Patrolman James Nahn in the left arm and another of his bullets pierced the trousers of Detective Sergeant Scheller without inflicting a wound. The policemen returned his fire, and in the shooting Robert L. Howard, white, of 1517 Papin street, and Mrs.
Viola Wynn, a negro, who was at 1428 Papin, were wounded, both while standing in front of the houses. Howard was wounded in the abdomen, and the wound was pronounced serious at the city hospital.
His wife later took him home. Mrs.
Wynn was wounded in the left breast and was taken to City Hospital No. 2.Blue found in basement.
Blue escaped during the exchange of shots. When the police had obtained more information about him,
it was decided to visit his sister's home, and Night Chief Frank Nally, Lieut. Edward Doyle and two patrolmen went there at 3 a. m. Nally went into the basement, and his flashlight showed him the fugitive negro, in one corner, aiming his revolver.
Nally fired at the negro, inflicting
a flesh wound in the right breast,
and then overpowered him, inflicting
four scalp wounds with his revolver.The automobile of the homicide squad was struck by several of the bullets fired in the earlier combat,
one of the shots piercing the windshield.WASHINGTON TOWN HAS RECORD

autos were all of middle-price
or better.In addition to these luxuries, six carloads of the latest labor-saving appliances for housewives, tools and farm machinery were delivered to buyers.The reason for the fat wallets was the stupendous crop of peaches,
pears and grapes which literally fell into an empty market at high prices.
Ranchers have also received big re-

Hundreds of farmers and their

FOR SAYS CARUSO'S VOCAL CORDS WERE UNUSUALLY LONG

Equipment as Singing Machine More Perfect Than That of Any Other Tenor.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Dr. William H. Dudgeon, throat specialist, who for many years treated Caruso, writes to the Daily Mail that, comparing with the great singer, he found the following characteristics of the perfect singing machine:

The most striking feature was the length of the vocal tube; the distance from the teeth to the vocal cords in Caruso was at least half an inch more than in any other great singer I have examined.

The second point was the length of the vocal cords, on whose length, width and thickness the pitch of voice largely depends. The average length of the relaxed vocal cords in man is 1 1/2 millimeters (about 3/16 inch). Caruso's vocal cords were at least half an inch longer than those of any other tenor I have seen.

The capacity for vibration of the vocal cords is another most important factor, for the higher the note the more rapid must be the vibration. Caruso when singing his wonderful chest 'C' sharp reached the phenomenal vibration for a man of 550 per second.

"Caruso's whole body seemed to have more average resonance and one of the great secrets of his wonderful voice was the formation of the epiglottis, which was thick at the base, as in basses, but exquisitely fine and delicate at the free end. The power of his voice was so great that he often fractured glasses in my consulting room by singing their fundamental notes at the office."

MINUTE MAN SIX

Wins Again at Pike's Peak!

Makes Fastest Climb for Cars of Its Class

A Lexington Special with the Ansted engine won first place yesterday at Pike's Peak Hill climb for cars in its event and class of 184 to 300 cubic inches piston displacement. Time nineteen minutes, forty-seven and four-fifths seconds. Ott Loesche winner beat his last year's time by more than two minutes and was only a few seconds behind the winner in the class for cars of larger piston displacement.

Why Not Drive A Winner?

YOU can get the same Ansted Engine, the same unusual range of performance, the same lightning acceleration, the same quiet, vibrationless efficiency, the same ease of handling, and the same dependability, in Lexington's new sport car—the Lark!

1 Last year, against larger and more expensive cars, the wonderful Ansted Engine carried two Lexington specials to first and second honors in the Pike's Peak Hill Climb.

2 This year's victory serves to emphasize the greater power and efficiency, and also the unusual consistency, of Lexington performance.

3 Lexington stock cars with the Ansted Engine have been steadily and overwhelmingly demonstrating their ability to out-perform on hills and straight-aways everywhere. Their economy records are equally remarkable.

4 Let us show you how Lexington, better than any other car, regardless of price, combines all the essentials for efficiency, safety, and economy today.

The Lark comes to you with everything complete: bumpers, windshield wipers, motor motor, an extra tire wheel and road tire on each running board, rear trunk and rack. Several optional color schemes enable you to get a car that looks custom-built to your special order.

CANADIAN-U. S. PEACE PORTAL DEDICATED

Exercises at Huge Arch on Border at Blaine, Wash., Attended by Many Officials.

By the Associated Press. BLAINE, Wash., Sept. 6.—More than 100 years of peace between Canada and the United States—100 years without fortifications or armies along 3000 miles of border—will be commemorated today with the dedication of the Peace Portal, a huge arch of steel and cement, on the international boundary line near here. At the same time the Pacific Highway, running from Vancouver, B. C., to Tia Juana, Lower California, will be formally dedicated with elaborate ceremonies. The highway, which is now practically completed with the exception of paving on certain stretches, is nearly 2000 miles long and traverses the states of Oregon, Washington and California. Every mile of the road will be paved by 1925, according to present plans.

Inscriptions on Portal.
The Peace Portal, constructed by the Pacific Highway Association in accord with an act of Parliament and an order in council rests half on Canadian and half on American soil. Of Grecian Doric type, it has been pronounced of surpassing beauty. On the plinth on the south side are inscribed the words: "Children of a Common Mother;" on the north side the legend runs: "Brethren Dwelling Together in Unity." On the interior, below one of the doorways are inscribed the words: "Open for 100 Years;" below the other door are the words: "May These Doors Never Be Closed."

On each side of the portal's park has been designed, and gardeners have been engaged for weeks in beautifying these strips. The structure bears two flagpoles, one of which the flag of Great Britain will fly, and from the other the Stars and Stripes. More than 400 electric lights will be used to illuminate the portal at night.

Dedication ceremonies began yesterday with special meeting at the Parliament buildings at Victoria, B. C., presided over by Lieutenant-Governor Walter Nichol of British Columbia. Today official visitors and those who participated in the ceremony, including prominent Canadian officials and officials from Pacific coast States and the Pacific Highway Association, were escorted to Blaine by a special train.

Features of Ceremony.
The feature of today's ceremony was the placing of a bit of wood from the Pilgrim ship, Mayflower, recently secured in England, in the American side of the portal. On the Canadian side was placed a piece of wood taken from the Beaver, famous old Hudson's Bay Co. ship, the first steam-propelled vessel to ply in Pacific waters.

To indicate the importance of the occasion, internationally, flags of four nations were placed upon the arch at the time of its dedication. The British and American flags flew from the staffs provided, and in addition the flags of Belgium and France were hoisted. Belgium, it was explained, was represented because the treaty signed Dec. 24, 1814, under which the United States and Canada have lived side by side in peace for a hundred years, was signed at Ghent, in Belgium. The French flag represents the large portion of the Canadian population of French extraction.

Twelve years ago A. E. Todd of Victoria originated the idea of a great arterial highway traversing the Pacific Coast from British Columbia to Mexico. In the fall of 1910 H. L. Rowley, State Highway Commissioner of Washington, began surveys for that portion of the highway, which lies in Washington. Formation of the Pacific Highway Association followed, and with the commencement of surveys by California and Oregon highway departments the work was fairly started.

Idea Launched in 1915.
In June, 1915, the idea of a peace portal was launched at a joint flag-raising ceremony at Blaine on the site of the present arch. Plans were laid at that time, but because of the war, construction work did not begin until last year. Samuel Hill, Seattle good roads enthusiast and honorary Consul-General for Belgium in the Pacific Northwest, was credited with conception of the original plan.

How I Was Wrecking the Lives of My Children

And Suffering Indescribable Torture Myself Day and Night. A Mother's Terrible Confession.

For some time I had noticed that my two children, a boy of seven and a girl of ten, were becoming highly nervous, irritable and very disobedient—at times even "sassy." I tried various punishments, even whipping, but they kept growing worse. I fought and struggled with the situation. My own nerves were all "on edge"—the least thing put me into a rage. I quarreled and had most awful "tantrums" with my husband over nothing as I now look back on them. I was too weak to work or enjoy life, and was nervous and irritable to see anyone. I was bitterly impatient and angry. I did not get just what I wanted when I wanted it. I often suffered from severe heart palpitation and indigestion. I could not sleep at night. I had an almost constant dull aching pain in the back of my neck and head, and frequently a very disagreeable sense of fullness in the front part of my head. I often had severe pains across my back, which made me think I had kidney trouble. I also had tender spots along the spine, which convinced me that a fall I had had several years ago had caused permanent spinal injury, which later proved to be only "a case of nerves." I could not begin to describe all the tortures, terrible pains and great debilitating weakness which I endured. Nobody, not even my husband, seemed to appreciate or realize my condition, and very few offered any sympathy, which irritated me all the more.

Finally I went to a doctor and told him my story; what awful children I had, and asked his advice as to what to do with them, and whether or not I should send them to a reform school. After studying my case and talking with me and my children, he said he was the cause of my children's condition, that it was all my fault. At this I flew into a rage, but after I had calmed down somewhat, he explained to me the terrible condition of my nerves and how they were the cause of my children's condition. He told me how the system only manufactured so much nerve force, and that the vital fluid of the body was stored in a storage battery, and that I was like an electric automobile after the storage battery was exhausted.

After four months' treatment, I was cured. I was cured of my nerves, and my children were cured of their nervous condition. I was cured of my heart palpitation and indigestion. I was cured of my sleeplessness. I was cured of my back pain and head pain. I was cured of my tender spots along the spine. I was cured of my constant dull aching pain in the back of my neck and head. I was cured of my disagreeable sense of fullness in the front part of my head. I was cured of my severe pains across my back. I was cured of my kidney trouble. I was cured of my spinal injury. I was cured of my nerves. I was cured of my children's condition. I was cured of my entire condition. I was cured of my life.

FAMILY OF 7 FOUND MURDERED IN BEDS

Coroner Believes the Father Chloroformed Others, Then Shot Them and Himself.

By the Associated Press.
ORMSBY, Minn., Sept. 6.—An entire family of seven—the father, mother and five children—were found shot to death in their home here late yesterday. The father, Frank Klocow, was a prominent local business man.

The bodies were discovered shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the Coroner, H. C. Jones of Fairmont, concluded they met their death between 12 and 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Klocow, the dead are Fred, 16 years old; Myrtle, 14; Glen, 12; Oliver, 9, and Leonard, 7.

All had been shot with a revolver as they lay in bed, and there were indications that chloroform had been used before they were shot. The revolver was found under Klocow's left arm.

Coroner Thompson, after viewing the bodies and talking to neighbors, said he believed Klocow had killed his family and then himself.

Klocow was 49 years old, and until six weeks ago, when he resigned, was cashier of the Farmers' State Bank of Ormsby. Bank officials said he refused to give a reason for leaving. They declared his accounts were in good shape.

A letter was found on a table in the home addressed to Henry Klocow, a brother, at Betherville, Ia.

BRYAN BLAMES PROFITERS FOR DELAY IN RETURN TO NORMAL

Commoner Aspects Labor Is Willing to Do Its Share in Effecting a Readjustment.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—William Jennings Bryan branded retail profiteers as the chief obstacle in the way of the country's return to normalcy in a speech yesterday at a mass meeting under the auspices of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Bryan said that the fault was not with labor, which was willing to do its share in effecting a readjustment, but with the men who perpetuated the inflation of living prices, making it impossible for the working classes to live on reduced wages.

"Labor's chief difficulty in readjustment," he said, "is in the fact that retail prices have not come down as they should. This makes readjustment impossible. It is difficult to reduce wages while living expenses remain at war-time levels. Woolen goods are now selling at retail 100 per cent above the price they were before the war. Meat on the hoof, which the butcher buys has reduced but meat on the block which the butcher sells has not been reduced. The laborer's family must suffer, and it is this which is the chief cause of labor unrest."

"Labor demands readjustment and is willing to do its share, but cannot lend its full aid because of excessive living costs."

Auto Racer Killed at Girard, Kan.
By the Associated Press.
GOLIAD, Mo., Sept. 6.—A. Foster of Dunkirk, Kan., an entrant in a 10-mile automobile racing event at Girard, Kan., was instantly killed there yesterday when his motor car swerved from the track and turned over three times, it was reported here last night.

PLANS BEING MADE TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Administration Officials Arranging for Conference to Be Held This Month.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Plans for the national unemployment conference to be held here this month are understood to be under consideration by administration officials. Secretary Hoover, who was requested by the President to draw the plans for the meeting, is understood to have completed a tentative draft of the program, together with a slate of representative men from which Harding may select the conference.

Hoover has expressed a hope that the President would be able to assemble the conference by the 15th or 20th of this month.

Dormitories and Free Kitchens in New York Considered.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Plans for aiding New York's army of 500,000 unemployed were taken up at a meeting today of the New Industrial Bureau, created by the Legislature. Establishment of great dormitories in National Guard armories and organization of free kitchens are two proposals for ameliorating the condition of the jobless, taken up by the bureau.

MAN OVERCOME BY FUMES IN WINE VAT DIES WHEN RESCUED

While stamping grapes in a vat of 1500-gallon capacity, Joseph Costagnor, an Italian, 54 years old, employed as a miner and living near mine No. 17 of the Consolidated Coal Co., near Collinsville, Ill., was overcome by the fumes of fermenting grapes and died a few minutes after being rescued from the vat. The accident occurred on the farm of Peter Origlasso, living near the St. Clair-Madison county line, where Costagnor had gone on Sunday morning to assist in wine making.

During the morning, Costagnor helped in cutting grapes. About 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Origlasso stated, he heard groans when passing the cellar and found Costagnor unconscious in the vat, which is 8 feet in diameter and 9 feet deep. With the assistance of Peter Perucca, Dominik Musso and Tony Origlasso, Costagnor was lifted out, but he died before a physician could arrive.

Deputy Coroner Peter Gaerdner of Belleville conducted the inquest Monday afternoon. The jury's verdict read that Costagnor came to his death by being suffocated by fumes arising from fermenting grapes in a 1500-gallon vat.

STOCK MARKET NEWS AND COTTON RISE

Mexican Petroleum Has Wide Upward Range Short Covering Seen in Issues in the General List.

By Licensed Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:
"Favorable reports concerning Mexican situation and the greater optimism engineered by the strong advance in the commodity markets, have themselves felt on the stock exchange this morning. Prices were higher from the start and with trading active, it was apparent that vigorous short covering was in progress. Advances ran all the way from fractions up to 6 points and were distributed over a broad list. Profit taking during the last hour brought a sharp reaction, but toward the close, net gains still amounted to fractions among the rails and from fractions to 3 points among active industrials. Call money was at 1/2 per cent throughout."

Sterling Is Lower.
Under the European weakness among the currencies, the break in sterling of 1/2 is at 4 1/2 cents. The day after the Government estimate appeared, if Europeans are to buy increased amounts of raw materials at higher prices, the demand for dollars naturally will be greater than had been anticipated. At all events, sterling sold off 3/4 cents to 4 1/2 cents. Weakness in sterling of the continental currencies was especially marked. French francs fell 17 points at 4 1/2 cents and lire fell off 1/2 in 4 1/2 cents. The cables meanwhile showed unsettling declines in the sterling value of francs. German marks sold at 4 1/2 cents and Scandinavian currencies and those of certain of the smaller continental countries also sustained substantial losses. Trading was active.

"Whereas also moved to higher levels, the gain being partly sympathetic and partly due to more optimistic feelings with regard to the prospects for export demand. December was strong at the start and went to 1 1/2 for a net gain of 3/4 cents. Profit taking subsequently brought the price back to 2 1/2. In this particular market, however, the rebound from recent lows now amounts to approximately 1 1/2 cents.

Wall Street News and Comment —SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—An accumulation of buying orders over the holidays partly coming from people who were afraid that the low prices were getting away and partly from the remnant of the badly beaten short interest led to a very sharp advance directly the stock market opened. The rise was especially violent in the Mexican oils on the announcement that a satisfactory adjustment had been reached of the export tax problem and that shipments of oil from Mexico, held up for the last two months, would now be resumed.

To the sudden jump of 6 points in Mexican Petroleum and a corresponding rise in other oil shares, was added, immediately at the start of business, a further and still more sensational upturn in the bottom market. The gain at the opening amounted to over 100 points, carrying quotations above the 20 cent level.

In the afternoon the advance had been increased to nearly 200 points and prices established on the basis of a pound figure which had been predicted after the reported record shortage in new crop production by the department's report last Thursday. At today's high, the total recovery from the low of June amounts to from 1/2 to 1 cent a point.

The argument that the turn about in the cotton situation would react favorably upon other lines was greatly strengthened by the rapid advance in wheat options, which was nearly a case of one thing following another. The grain trade being impressed by the extraordinary developments in the cotton market, a domestic crop below the average and the two points of similarity between the two.

Both in stocks and in cotton it is quite to be expected that so extensive a rise should invite very little profit-taking, and selling of the character made itself felt toward the close of the day. It was especially marked in stocks and in the final hour when many of the more sensitive speculative issues came down a point to 2 points from their high figures reached early in the afternoon. Undoubtedly today's operations witnessed the running-in of pretty much the last of the exuberant bear sentiment of a fortnight ago. It remains to be seen what will happen now that this element of support has been withdrawn.

The Bond Market.

The bond market today felt something of the impetus that was behind the movements in stocks. Prices continued their upward drift and the advance affected all departments. The Mexican oil settlement encouraged further buying of Mexican Govern-

Uncommon Sense

Be an Effective Advertiser
The end you will succeed
because of what is inside
your head.

But neither the X-ray
other device ever invented
likely to be invented, will prospective employer to look your brain.

Even the questionnaires which tests show but little of what is inside your head.
You must have some kind
of head of his class in school legs never makes good in at

YOU carry somewhere behind your forehead the ability that able you to win.
But that ability has got to be out. You have got to put somebody that you are worth playing before you can use the best of ability.

This is the age of advertising
even if you could afford it would gain little by putting in the paper announcing that an able and an efficient young man capable of making good in any job, and certain to be three or four times your salary
any employer.

That may be done, success
some day. Just now, the world is not quite ready for it.
You must have some kind
of "ad" however to sell yourself
and the best one available is appearance.

If you look prosperous, if well dressed and alert and you are well advertised.
In any line of applicants,
likely to be picked out as one most promising.

Your clothes and your sensibility attract attention.
Appearance is not all.
Many men look like a million
who are not worth 10 cents.
But they get found out very quickly.

If you are really able and if you need, all you have is a chance.
You will never get that chance
if you are not ready for it.
Your teeth and need a shave
"Your only "ad" is the impression and others get of the start.

Make that a good one. I am afraid to spend money on good advertising is expensive
is the best investment that a man can possibly make.

Beautifulizing the Neck

By Charlotte C. West, M.

It is the exceptional woman who carries a naturally pure and attractive tint into the face and neck. To white necks, unless artificially produced, they deed a rarity.

Frequent allusions have been made to the tremendous influence of the neck in the skin. All the bleaching agents
our command will not correspond to the complexion caused by discretions in diet and the use of the neck.

The neck is a most important part of the face. It is the link between the face and the body. It is the most delicate part of the body. It is the most exposed part of the body. It is the most vulnerable part of the body. It is the most beautiful
part of the body. It is the most important part of the body. It is the most delicate part of the body.

I know that my retirement will principles, that it will always fight

for progress and reform, never tol-

fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devo-

always be drastically independent;

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Uncle Sam and the Railroads.

NOBODY seems to know how the account stands between the Government and the railroads, according to the Post-Dispatch. That is right. But some things are known. To my certain knowledge, when the Government took over the railroads in 1917, gravel work
trains and men—hundreds of them—
were put to ballasting the roads to make them safe for carrying men and freight.
The roads, when turned back to private owners, were in far better shape than when the Government took them. Anyhow, that is true of one road that I know personally about, and I believe it is true of many roads.

The Post-Dispatch is right in insisting that the people be informed about the account of the Government and the railroads—just what the Government is supposed to owe the railroads and what the railroads owe the Government.
But that is not all. The people should be informed, as far as practicable, as to the improvements the Government made while operating the roads. And don't be misled by the reports that the Government neglected the roads and turned them back in a run-down condition. The Government turned back far better properties than it received.
OLD RAILROAD MAN.

Lawyers and Doctors.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHY is it that lawyers and doctors,
as soon as they become established
in their professions, want to make it harder for others to enter? This tendency to always raise the entrance requirements may be in the interests of the public, but it also serves a very selfish interest, too. It keeps down competition.
If professional efficiency is truly the subject, why not have tests, say, every five years, to determine whether the practicing lawyers and doctors are keeping up with professional advancement? It might not be easy to devise exactly the examination papers, but the really competent lawyers and doctors would have no trouble passing any examination. It would be the incompetents that would fail. And they ought to fail. This tendency
to always raise the entrance requirements is just as important from the standpoint of the public welfare, that the incompetent lawyers and doctors be weeded out as that incompetents trying to get in shall be kept out.

ONE OF THE PUBLIC.

Profiteering Undertakers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AN Opinion Column" of the Post-Dispatch entitled, "Profiteering in Death," states that a coffin costing $20 ranges as high as $200, while those costing $20
sell as high as $600.

The coffin is only the first step toward disposing of our loved ones.
Ask any one who has recently had a funeral in their home what the undertaker has charged for hanging a piece of crepe, used over and over again, upon the door knob? Everything else in proportion.

If the department of justice will direct their energies toward profiteering in coffins, and everything else connected with the burial of our dead, I am sure their efforts will be highly appreciated
by thousands throughout our land.

VICTIM.

Make Them Disgorge.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THANKS to the press for taking up the fight for the ex-service men, who sacrificed everything to save our country and those that were fortunate enough to return, only ask for an opportunity to work for an honest living.
The Chamber of Commerce is a powerful organization and its members are business men from all parts of the United States and the responsibility rests on them and the officeholders of our cities, states and nation to see that the ex-service men have employment.

I would suggest that some of our representatives in Washington stop making love to the school girls long enough to amend the Constitution of the United States so as to give them power to make every man register that has not got an honorable discharge from the army or a good reason for not serving, and take from him everything he made above living expenses from the date war was declared by the United States until peace
was signed.

The money could be used as a relief fund for the ex-service men.

S. C. WILLIAMS.

A Hereafter for Landlords.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

HURRAH for Mr. Seleck! How refreshing to know there are a few places where children are not barred.
But, alas, only too few, as many mothers
besides myself know. We are being forced to move because we have two children, and so far have not been able to get anything for the same reason. Up till the time we received our notice I never had any special interest or belief in the doctrine of hell, but now I find myself hoping that there is such a place,
equipped up with instruments of torture
and plenty of heat thrown in, for all these tyrants who are barring children
and making life so hard for

MOTHER AND FATHER.

GOV. MORGAN'S DISCREDITED ROLE.

The reactionary statement issued by Gov. Morgan of West Virginia, in which he promises further persecution of the "insurrectionists" following the departure of the Federal troops from the trouble area of the coal fields, is easily accounted for. The Governor's pretty enterprise of quelling the recent uprising of miners and citizens with blood and iron has fallen flat.

What happened was quite another story. The troops were received by the miners as deliverers. There was no resistance, but an appeal to be protected by the Constitution and the armed forces of the United States from Gov. Morgan's reign of terror. "Let us win West Virginia back to America" is said to have been the slogan of the men along the entire length of the fighting lines.

According to the formal statement of Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, issued last Friday, the citizens engaged in the recent uprising had "dispersed" to their homes on Aug. 26 under an agreement with
Gen. Bandholtz that their lives would be protected.
Less than 24 hours passed, said Murray, before a band of Gov. Morgan's constabulary and county deputies crept into Sharples in the dead of night and murdered
two members of the United Mine Workers and injured two others. The result, naturally, was the complete remobilization of the original armed band,
supplemented by "railroad men, merchants, doctors,
ministers of the gospel and almost every element of the citizenship of those communities" in defiance of the thug law of the Governor.

These statements and allegations of the miners' leader might not have meant much to the outside world at the time of their issuance last Friday. They mean more since the fulfillment of their authors' prophecy that the arrival of Federal troops "will bring about a peace in the disturbed area and that peace will continue to be here so long as Federal jurisdiction over the affected sections remains in effect."

There is no doubt that the Governor's administration of affairs needs defense following the complete discredit and disgrace it has suffered by the episode of the calling of Federal troops and their unexpected
reception by the Governor's own apparently handmade "outlaws." But it will take something more profound than the usual reactionary wall against
"riot and insurrection" to convince the people of the United States that the Morgan rule in West Virginia
is American and not Caesarian rule.

RAILROADS MUST COME CLEAN.

The passage of the railroad funding bill would put
a million men to work, according to the managing director of the War Finance Corporation. If such a beneficent and necessary result will follow surely nobody will interpose a captious or doctrinaire objection. Just the same, the loan of half a billion dollars is a big enterprise, and before the Government grants
this favor to the railroads the railroads ought to be entirely candid and honest with the Government.

The very least the railroads should do is to come to an agreement with the Government as to just what they owe the Government and what the Government owes them. If the railroads were trying to borrow half a billion dollars from private banking houses
with which they had been doing business and certain accounts with which were in dispute, such a clearance would be made and made gladly. The same business rule should apply in transactions with the Government.

First and last, the Government has had a good many business dealings with the railroads, and the experience as a whole is not reassuring. In this instance the Government should protect itself against any trickery or possible misunderstanding. It should see to it that the railroads come clean.

BANNING THE BRASS BAND.

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, Overseer of Zion, is going too far when he bans baseball from the sacred precincts
of Zion City, but barring brass bands is not so bad.
The worst that can be said is that in proscribing all aggregations of tooters he is lacking in discrimination.

While we do not as a rule agree with the restrictions which Mr. Voliva sees fit to impose upon Zion City, we are bound to admit that some brass bands are calculated to disturb the peace of any town. We would not feel like going all the way with Brother Voliva and characterizing them as crimes, but it is within the bounds of moderation to say that some brass bands are at least misdeemeanors.

Zion village, it may be assumed, has that kind of bands. If so, we can understand how their blare might be unconducive to the religious contemplation

of the faithful.

which is the Zionists' chief activity. It is conceivable, as the overseer seems to suspect, that Satan
might utilize the village band to disseminate hellish dissonance, aimed at the destruction of the heavenly harmonies which are cultivated with great assidu-ity at Zion City.

Brother Voliva's lack of discrimination is not confined to brass bands. It is fundamental to the Voliva system. Because some brass bands are bad all brass bands are bad. Because some things deserve condemnation all things are under condemnation. That is the weakness and the absurdity of the sort of censoriousness that thrives at Zion City and some other places.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

Postmaster-General Hays' address to the convention of the National Letter Carriers' Association had the evangelical flavor characteristic of the Indiana gentleman's utterances. An engaging blend of preacher and politician is Mr. Hays. "He can pronounce the name of Abraham Lincoln to bring tears to your eyes," said Meredith Nicholson in a complimentary character sketch of his fellow Hoosier, which is not a bad summary of Mr. Hays' platform manners and talents. Yet the Postmaster-General is entirely at home in the rough-and-tumble of practical politics,
and as a campaign manager his genius, we are sure,
will be fervently attested by both Democrats and Republicans.

The 7,000,000 majority of a year ago was attributable in large measure to the wonderful organization which Mr. Hays had perfected. It was a claim to preference and the claim has been recognized. As Postmaster-General Mr. Hays is a product of politics. It may well be, however, that he has distinctive qualities for the duties of the office. In undertaking
the responsibilities he declared it to be his determination to humanize the department, and that purpose colored all his remarks last night. His plans as to improving the condition of the postal employees are rather nebulous. In any event no program has as yet been worked out, though here and there constructive efforts are being made. From the reception accorded him there can be no doubt that Mr. Hays has won the confidence of the carriers. The relationship between the workers and Washington is evidently friendly.

It should be observed, too, that some of his rulings
as a departmental chief have been liberal and in line with our national belief and ideals. Still on trial, he has made a good start. If he persists faithfully in his professions the country as well as the employees of the Postal Department will have found an excellent public servant in Mr. Hays.

Having heard from London and Washington, we are now waiting for somebody with a facile pen to write "Mirrors of St. Louis."

THE TENNIS TRIUMPH.

The Japanese tennis invasion has been repulsed,
and that imperial symbol, the Davis Cup, will remain for another year among the treasured trophies of our athletic prowess—unfilled, to be sure, but not unhonored or unsung. Perhaps it won't be unfilled, either, though such a speculation is not to be indulged upon.

The apogee of the tournament was Tilden's performance against Shimidzu, which was described by a veteran British expert with colorful Irish adjectives reinforced by emotional French gestures. From seemingly accepted defeat the American champion swept into victory by a blazing, irresistible attack.

The astonishing thing about Tilden's triumph is the strategy by which it was achieved. It seems that the Japanese are invincible at the back court game.
Anyhow, Shimidzu was. There was no success for Tilden until he began charging the net. Yet the net game, predicated as it is on speed and stamina, is a style in which the Japanese, by reason of their stature
and steel-spring muscles, should excel, one would think. Surely that would be the judgment of those of us who know the Japanese athlete only from the vaudeville stage.

No general conclusion as to the superior stamina
and speed of either contestant in this extraordinary battle is to be drawn. What may be asserted, though, is this: that Tilden proved himself a champion in spirit as well as in accomplishment and Shimidzu acquitted himself according to the highest traditions of tennis sportsmanship. Honors enough, indeed, for East and West.

It is a safe bet that the $20-a-week man with 16
children doesn't buy many of those 5-cent cigars
which are selling at 15 cents.

THE HISTORY OF THE WHOLE TERRITORY OF UPPER

Louisiana is very largely identified with that of St. Louis. Nowhere in the world outside of the happy valley in which Dr. Johnson discovered his imaginary Kamschatka, could a population so primitive be found as that upon which the manner of the Union operated after the cession of Louisiana. The French settlers had retained the simple habits of provincial France
of two centuries ago, intensified by the isolation
in which they had lived. The good-natured, easy-going residents in the wilderness had the manners of children, unspoiled by the arts and affections of civilization, as well as untaught
by its sciences. Changes were to come now, and the average American with whom he was now to come into contact as a fellow citizen and compete in business.

There were no public schools in the community and no religious organizations were few. The whole business of life concentrated itself within the domestic circle, and there were neither hopes, nor ambitions, to be gratified beyond those narrow bounds. The virtues of the people were provincial, the honesty and religious faith admitted of no question, they were simple to a fault. "Rene Leblanc, with his papers and ink horn," would have seemed an extravagance
among those children of nature who had neither notaries public, lawyers, judges nor civil tribunals. The only prison was the guardhouse, occupied by the small garrison, and it is asserted
on what seems to be excellent authority, that for more than half a century there had not been an instance of delinquency, civil or criminal, that demanded its employment for that purpose. Deer skins constituted the currency of the country, and bargains were sealed with a grasp of the hand. Their communications were "Yea, Yea," and "Nay, Nay." The descendants of these early settlers long retained the simplicity of manners and customs to which they were born.

At the time Capt. Stoddard took possession of upper Louisiana, St. Louis consisted of two long streets, running parallel to the river, with a number of others intersecting them at right angles. There were, however, some houses on the line of the present Third street, which was known as "the street of farms." The church building from which Second street derived its name was a structure of hewn logs, somewhat rude and primitive in appearance. West of Fourth street there was little else but woods
and commons, and the Planters Hotel now stands upon a portion of the space then used for purposes of pasture. There was no postoffice, nor indeed any need for one, as there were no official mails. Government boats ran occasionally between New Orleans and St. Louis, but there was no regular communication. The principal buildings were the Government house
on Main street, near Walnut; the "Chouteau" mansion, being part of the first house built in St. Louis, situated on the block between Main and Second, and Market and Walnut streets;
the residence of Mme. Chouteau, on the block next north, and the Fort St. Charles, near the present intersection of Broadway and Walnut streets. In this fort the Spanish garrison had its quarters. "The early records of the Catholic Church contain an account of the ceremony at the laying of the first stone of this fort in the spring of 1780."

The means of education, were, of course, limited in character, and as pettries and lead continued to be the chief articles of export, the cultivation of the land in the vicinity of the town progressed but slowly. There are reasons for believing that St. Genevieve was a more important place, in a commercial point of view,

than St. Louis; at the time of the cession there were only about 180 houses, nearly all built of

hewn logs, and, on the square thus made, a roof

was formed and covered with shingles fastened to scantlings with wooden pegs on account of the scarcity of nails. Some of the dwellings of the more wealthy inhabitants were erected of stone, with a massive stone wall encompassing

the garden with which they were surrounded. These houses were of one story, low-pitched, with a porch the full length of the building, and frequently a piazza in the rear.

The principal merchants and traders at this time were Auguste Chouteau, Pierre Chouteau,

Manuel Lisa, Lebadie & Sarpy, Jacques Chamor-

gan, McCune & Co. and Messrs. Horton, Pratte

Gratiot, Tayon, Lacompe, Papin, Cabanne, Alvarez, Lebaume and Souland.

THE FUR TRADE, which had led to the founding of St. Louis, continued for many years to be the principal business of the people, and, during

Be an Effective Advertiser. The end you will succeed or fail because of what is inside of your head.

Neither the X-ray nor any other device ever invented or ever likely to be invented, will enable a prospective employer to look into your brain.

Even the questionnaires and psychological tests show but little.

And many a boy who stands at the head of his class in school or college never makes good in after life.

YOU carry somewhere behind you a forehead the ability that will enable you to win.

But that ability has got to be tried out. You have got to persuade somebody that you are worth employing before you can use even the best of ability.

This is the age of advertising. Yet even if you could afford it, you would gain little by putting an "ad" in the paper announcing that you are able and an efficient young man.

Any job, and certain to be worth three or four times your salary to any employer.

That may be done successfully some day. Just now the business world is not quite ready for it.

You must have some kind of an "ad" however to sell yourself with, and the best one available is a good appearance.

If you look prosperous, if you are well dressed and alert and cheerful you are well advertised.

In any line of applicants, you are likely to be picked out as one of the most promising.

Your clothes and your general appearance attract attention.

Appearance is not all, of course. Many men look like a million dollars who are not worth 10 cents.

But they get found out very speedily.

If you are really able and competent all you need, all you ought to have is a chance.

You will never get that chance if you wear seedy clothes and neglect your teeth and need a shave.

Your only "ad" is the impression employers and others get of you at the first glance.

Make that a good one. Don't be afraid to spend money on it. All good advertising is expensive, yet it is the best investment that a business man can possibly make.

Beautifying the Neck

By Charlotte C. West, M. D.

It is the exceptional woman who carries a naturally pure and delicately tinted skin into the thirties, and as to white necks, unless they are artificially produced, they are indeed a rarity.

Frequent allusions have been made to the tremendous influence of the intestinal tract upon the outer skin. All the bleaching agents at our command will not correct discolorations caused by continued indigestion in diet and the like.

The yellow, coarse appearance of the neck so often complained of is, however, in most instances the result of neglect of the body and of carelessness in dress. Many women accord the neck scant attention, giving it some thought only when its glaring imperfections are thrown into bold relief by contact with a color they have not worn since girlhood, or when some occasion necessitates the donning of an evening frock.

The finest soap is none too good for the neck. The following makes a soap of rare excellence for this purpose: Shave very fine one pound of the purest castile soap; cover this with cold water in an earthen dish, which is placed in a water bath or strainer as soon as the mass is melted stir in one-half pound of oatmeal and set away to cool. When cold it can be cut into blocks and allowed to harden.

In the warm, soft state this mixture is admirable for scrubbing the neck and ridding it of all accumulated soil or impurities. Repeat several times with fairly hot water until the desired object is really accomplished. Then cover the parts with a fine paste made of one ounce of strained honey, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, six drops of oil of bitter almonds, the whites of two eggs and enough of fine oatmeal to spread the mass on old linen or cotton cloth about three inches wide, which is placed like a bandage about the neck.

It can be left in position as long as desirable. If this treatment is pursued every day for a week a marvelous transformation will take place.

This treatment does not pertain to the face, the skin of which is more delicate.

ANOTHER CRAB DISH

AN old crab dish is made by boiling one medium sized eggplant until tender, then peel and cut in dice, add six large, peeled tomatoes, drained of all the juice, four cups of crab meat, three well beaten eggs and a seasoning of pepper and salt. Place the mixture in a hot fry pan with four tablespoons of butter and cook thoroughly, then place in an earthenware baking dish and cover with bread crumbs and pieces of butter and brown well in the oven. Serve in the same dish.

THE ARCHDUKE'S TEA By H. C. BAILEY

A Short Story in Five Daily Installments
(Copyright, 1921.)

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

HE hall at Boldwood is in the Victorian baronial style, absurd but comfortable. Reggie was still blinking at the light when a woman ran at him. His first notion of the Archduchess's lanthe was vengeance. She came upon him, a great fur cloak falling away from her speed, panting, black eyes glowing, and then stopped short, and her pale face was distorted with passion.

"Dr. Fortune! You are not Dr. Fortune!" she cried.

"Dr. Fortune, Jr., madame. My father is away, and I am in charge of his practice." She muttered something in a language he did not know, and looked as if she was going to kill him. His second notion of her was that she was wickedly beautiful. A Greek perfection in the pale face, but, Lord, what a temper!

The daintiest grace of body, but it moved and quivered like a whip lash.

"My dear lanthe!" A man came smiling from behind the screen by the fire. He was tall and slight and dandyish; a lot of color in his clothes, an odd absence of color in him. A bright blue of the emerald in a bright blue handkerchief hanging half out of the pocket of the silver-gray coat. But his face had a waxy pallor, his hair, his mustache and little pointed beard were so fair that they looked like patches of paint on a mask. "We are much obliged by Dr. Fortune's coming so quickly."

The Archduchess whirled round. "He is too young," she said in German. "Look at him. He is a boy."

"I beg your pardon, madame," said Reggie, in the same language. "May I see the patient?"

The man laughed. "I am sure we have every confidence in your skill, Dr. Fortune." All the laughter was smoothed out of his face. And your discretion," he said in a lower voice. "I am the Archduchess Leopold. You may be frank with me. And rely upon my help."

Reggie bowed. "How did the accident happen, sir?"

The Archduchess turned to his sister-in-law. "You know that I do not know," she cried. "I was out in the car."

"As my sister says, Dr. Fortune, she was out in the car," the Archduchess paused. "She drives herself. It is with her a little passion. My brother was out walking alone."

"Those long walks! How I hate them!" the Archduchess broke out. "Again, it is with him a little passion. Well, he did not come back. I grew anxious. I am staying here, you understand. My sister was late too. I sent out servants. My brother was found lying in the road not far from the gate of the lodge. He remains unconscious. I fear—"

"You—you always fear!" the Archduchess cried. They exchanged glances like blows.

"May I go up, madame?" Reggie said solemnly. She whirled round and rushed away.

"The Archduchess is much agitated," said the Archduchess. "It is most natural." Reggie murmured.

"Most natural. Pray follow me, Dr. Fortune. I will take you to my brother."

The Archduchess lay in a room of austere simplicity. A writing-table, a tiny dressing-table, three chairs, and a narrow iron bed were all its furniture. Only three small rugs lay on the floor. At the head of the bed a man stood watching. The Archduchess was on her knees, her face pressed to her husband's body, and she sobbed violently.

The Archduchess Leopold looked at Reggie, made a gesture towards her, and said, "My dear lanthe!"

"I beg your pardon, madame. This is dangerous to the patient," Reggie said.

She gave a stifled cry and rushed out of the room.

The Archduchess Leopold seemed to intend to stay, but in a moment the voice of the Archduchess was heard calling for him. "Better go to her, sir. Keep her out of here," Reggie said, and turned to his patient. It was obvious that the Archduchess did not relish so brusque an order. But the passionate voice was not to be denied.

The man by the bed and Reggie took each other's measure. "English," said Reggie.

"Yes, sir. Holt, I am. The Archduchess's valet."

"You understood him?"

"Yes, sir. Was that wrong?"

"Depends how you did it," Reggie began his examination.

"Get me some warm water, will you?" Holt went out of the room. Reggie bent over the broad chest. From it, from just above the heart he drew out a thin silver of steel. He made a face at it and put it away. Holt came back, and there was sponging and bandaging.

"You washed him before, I see. Anyone else touched him or you?"

"Only carrying him, sir. I've been with him the whole time. I found him."

"Oh, lying on his face, I suppose?"

"No, sir; on his back. Just like he is now."

"Oh. Notice anything?"

"No, sir; I wish I had. I'd like to have the handling of the boulder that did it."

"Well, well; we mustn't get excited. Preserve absolute calm, Holt. He's well liked, is he?"

"Why, sir, we'd do anything for him. He—oh, he's a gentleman."

"Quite so. You mustn't leave him a moment. No one—see, no one—is to come into the room. I'll be back soon."

"Very good, sir. Beg pardon, sir." The good Holt flushed. "What's the verdict?"

"It's not all over yet!" Reggie went downstairs.

And it appeared to him that he interrupted the Archduchess and the Archduchess in a quarrel. But the Archduchess was very pleased to see him, effusive in offering a chair and so forth. Reggie was not gratified. "I must have nurses, sir," he announced. "I should like another opinion."

"You see," the Archduchess cried. "It is as I told you. This boy?"

"The Archduchess is naturally anxious," the Archduchess apologized. "By all means nurses. But another

EVEN though a matchmaker has heard that marriages are made in heaven, she conceived heaven needs herself as an outside selling agent.

When a man offers to fix a squeaky door or a balky window his sense of nobility is so strong that he doesn't realize how often, after waiting two weeks for him to make good, his wife has to bribe the janitor to do the work.

Chief among the present "problems of the girl" is the resumption of diplomatic relations with the man, or men, at home, to whom she has been "too busy" to write all summer.

The wicked flee when no man pursueth, but so do perfectly good women. They know it's the surest way of inviting pursuit.

Add bitter pills: The realization of the woman who has lived long enough to BE interesting that she has lived too long to "LOOK interesting."

This is the time of year when the summer widower is trying to strike the golden mean between not looking plump and happy enough to rouse suspicion and not looking so pale and hollow-eyed that a remorseful wife vows, "I NEVER will go away and leave you alone again."

Reggie met him at the door and took him upstairs before that puzzling pair, the Archduchess and the Archduchess, had a sight of him. "Glad you could come, sir. It's an odd case."

"Every case is odd," said Sir Lawson Hunter.

"He was knocked down by a car. The—"

"If he was I can find it out for myself. Damn it, Fortune, don't blame me. Most unprofessional. That's the worst of general practice. You fellows must always be saying something."

Reggie held his peace. He knew Sir Lawson's little ways, having been his house surgeon. The faithful Holt was turned out of the room. Sir Lawson Hunter went over the new body with his usual speed and washed his hands.

"Splendid animal," he remarked. "They run to that these Pragens. I remember his uncle's abdominal muscles. Hercule. Well, he was walking. A big car driven fast hit him from behind on the right side, fractured two ribs, and knocked him down. Impact of his head on the road has caused a serious concussion. That car should have stopped."

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Farmer Brown's Boy Makes Trouble.

PETER RABBIT finally gave up hunting for Striped Chipmunk's new doorway. Chatterer the Red Squirrel gave up hunting for Striped Chipmunk's new doorway. Both declared they didn't believe he had one, and having lost interest took themselves off. Striped Chipmunk, his bright eyes twinkling as he watched them go, chuckled happily.

"That new doorway isn't in such a bad place after all," said he to himself, and laughed right out as he thought of how Peter Rabbit had jumped right over it without noticing it. "No, it isn't in such a bad place after all," he repeated.

Then he scampered a short distance along the old stone wall, disappeared down between the stones, peeped out to make sure no one saw him, and then scurried through the grass over to the path between the trees of the Old Orchard and the old wall and popped through his new doorway. He was sure no one had seen him, and he chuckled all the way to his bedroom.

"If any one was watching me they saw me go down between the stones of the old wall, and of course they will be sure that my doorway is somewhere down there," thought he. "If you suspect you may be watched or followed go directly to a place."

Oh, Striped Chipmunk is smart!

Not long afterward Farmer Brown's Boy came over to see what damage had been done by the great storm. He spent some time looking at the maple tree which had been struck by lightning. He put back some of the big stones which had been knocked from the old wall. He discovered that two or three had been buried in the ground and he was greatly interested.

"Lightning does queer things," said he, talking aloud. "I'm thankful I wasn't under this tree when it was struck. No one can ever guess where it will strike, but it strikes trees more often than anything else, and you'll never catch me under one in a thunder storm."

Farmer Brown's Boy was still thinking of the lightning when he stepped out into the path. Just in front of him in the middle of the path was a little round hole. He stopped to look at it.

"That is queer," said he. "I'm sure that hole wasn't here the last time I was along here. I wonder who made it."

He stooped over to look at it more closely. "Now how could a hole be dug and there be no sand around it? There isn't a grain of sand around

Then he scampered a short distance along the old stone wall.

this hole, not a grain." A sudden idea popped into his head. "I wonder," said he, looking over at the maple tree which the lightning had struck, "if that lightning had struck this hole, not a grain."

Any way we can't have a hole in the middle of the path. Water would run in and wash it bigger and there would soon be a bad place in the path. I'll fill it up. Yes, sir, lightning does do funny things."

He went over to the place where the lightning had torn a hole in the ground and partly buried two or three stones from the old wall and filled his cupped hands with sand and small pebbles. These he took back and put in the little hole in the path. He had to make a number of trips before the hole was filled. Then he stamped it all down firmly and went on his way whistling merrily.

And once more Striped Chipmunk was a prisoner in his own home, though he didn't know it.

Until the Doctor Comes

By Charlotte C. West, M. D.

SUNSTROKE.

SUNSTROKE or heat stroke is a different from heat prostration, in that it is much more severe and often ends fatally. Those working under the direct rays of the sun are the chief sufferers, although it may occur to occupants of unventilated tenements on stifling nights.

An attack comes on suddenly with intense fever (104 degrees to 110 degrees F.), noisy breathing and collapse, hence it is termed a "stroke." Death may follow in 24 to 36 hours or delirium and unconsciousness may last for days.

The first thing to do is send for a physician; the next is to remove the victim out of the heat into a cool, shady place and apply ice.

The speediest way to reduce the fever and abstract the heat from the body is by means of ice. Lay the patient entirely nude on a wire mattress or canvas cot, bind the ice to the back of his neck, cover him with a sheet and from a height (stand on a chair) pour lead water upon the body.

The entire sheet must be continuously saturated with ice-cold water. It is also important to apply friction to the limbs with ice. This can be done over the sheet. Friction stimulates the circulation and the nervous centers and prevents the blood being driven away from the surface of the body by the cold water. High rectal injections of strong cold coffee may be given, and as the fever is being controlled an enema consisting of 1 pint of milk, two raw eggs and pinch of salt sustains the patient's strength.

If the pulse is very weak two tablespoonfuls of whisky should be added to the enema.

Remember that sunstroke is a very fatal disorder and that first aid, as outlined above, must be immediate. Remember that a high degree of moisture in the air favors sunstroke, that the condition is more frequent in some localities and in some years with precisely the same climatic conditions—so guard against sunstroke by keeping cool under any and all circumstances.

The practice of taking children into the water bareheaded, under a broiling sun, is particularly pernicious. A child may be suddenly stricken from either the effect of the sun shining directly on the head and spine or by intense heat without sun.

How to Reduce Your Weight

Further Discussion of Proper Diet to Obtain the Best Results.

By DORIS DOSCHER.

NOT a day passes but I receive many letters asking for more explicit directions in the matter of diet, and so I am going to give you a few fundamental rules regarding your reducing diet. It would be very simple for me to give you a list of things you can eat and a list of things you cannot eat if I had only the reduction of weight in mind, but the object of this column has been to try to guide you so that your reduction would leave you in an improved physical condition and not by undernourishing you and over-exerting you to wear your surplus fat away so as to bring you down to normal weight.

One supreme thing about humanity is that there are no two people alike, but when prescribing a diet for reduction this complicates the question. So each one of you will have to study your own needs and decide for yourself and select which one of the food suggestions would best fit your particular need. If your occupation is a strenuous one be sure to supply yourself with sufficient nourishment; but this need not be of a fattening nature. I warn you against taking any drugs to move rapidly to reduce your weight. An intelligent understanding of food values will show you that nature is sufficient. The natural method of exercise combined with diet will bring about the best results.

In general the following suggestions will prove helpful: In your study of foods you will find there are many more things you can eat than the kind of foods forbidden.

For breakfast be sure to eat fruit, either fresh or stewed, and twice a week a boiled or poached egg. A glass of milk or a cup of cereal is also good. If you prefer coffee or tea, take it, but with very little cream or sugar.

Meat may be eaten in small quantities if prepared plain, roasted or broiled, so as not to make it greasy, and all kinds of sea food. You may eat all kinds of salads excepting those made of forbidden foods. Try to avoid bread, biscuits, crackers. In fact, anything made of the flour of wheat, corn, rye, barley, oats, etc., rice, macaroni, potatoes, corn, dry beans and lentils, and eat in their place bran or gluten bread and plenty of green vegetables. You may eat in some of the menus I suggested foods from the forbidden list. It is because I felt you needed a little more of the kind of nourishment you were used to that I did not wish to reduce too fast, but rather to make the reduction permanent.

REDUCING DIET

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

HOW THEY GOT IN.

Young Francis Fortbby Fortescue
Has smart relations by the dozen.
His face is long, his blood is blue.
His uncle was the King's ninth cousin.
Were you a gambler you would bet
That no young man has better chances
To move in Vincent Astor's set
And be a social swell than Francis.

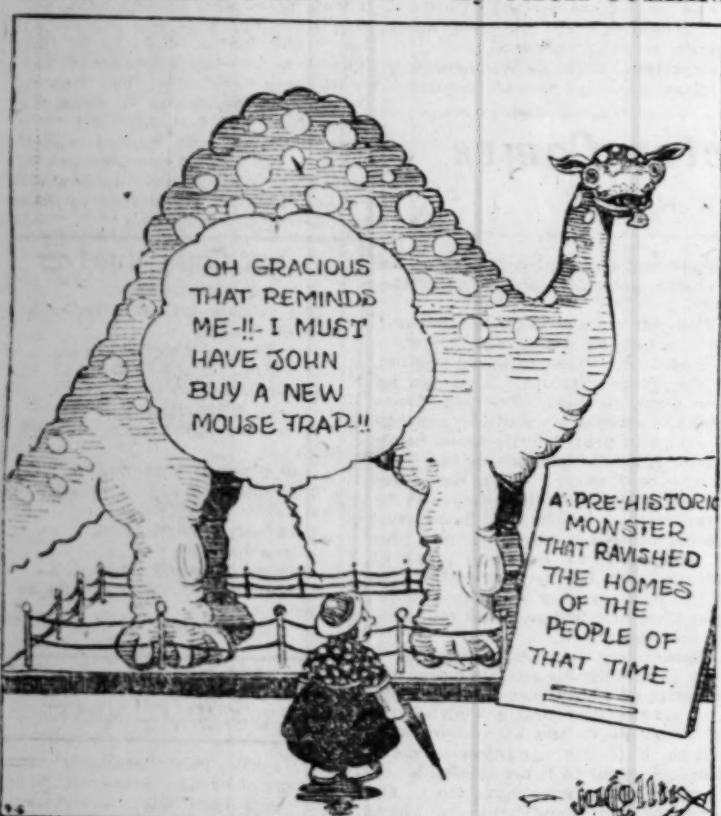

Yet in a flat house he resides.
For though these folks are far below him,
At Vanderbilt's he never dines.
And J. P. Morgan doesn't know him.
He's strong on breeding, looks and rank;
He's both a gentleman and scholar.
But he lacks standing in the bank.
For Francis hasn't got a dollar.

Mike Quinn laid bricks some years ago
And never heard of a centillion.
His hands are rough, his brow is low.
But he has piled up ninety million.
Just now he's outside looking in.
But don't regard him with compassion.
You soon will read of Michael Quinn
Among the news of folk of fashion.

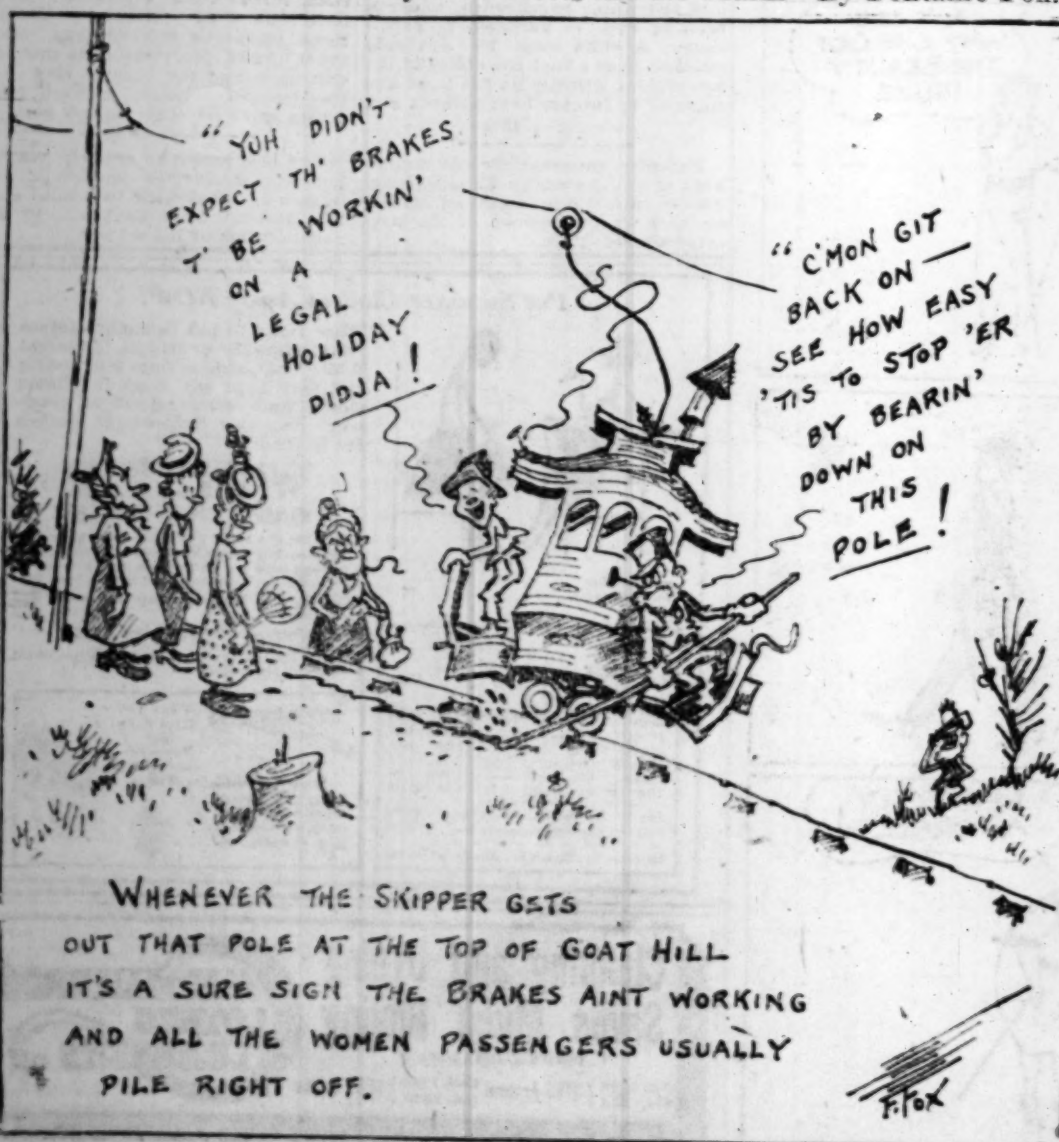

At Newport there is much hauteur
Among the people who are met there;
Their "a's" are broad, their "r's" they slur.
But it was cash that helped them get there.
Though wealthy today is not enough
To give men social station.
You'll find that necks were pretty rough
In Swelldom's earlier generation.
